Numbers don't add up

CLAUDIA M. LENART
Regional Editor

Which are the best towns in Chicagoland and which are the worst? Chicago magazine writers think they know which towns stack up. But according to their October cover story, Lakeland area villages are some of the worst places to live.

Chicago magazine ranked 160 suburbs in DuPage, Cook and Lake counties based on five different areas — health and safety, schools, housing, travel, and leisure.

According to the magazine, most Lakeland area towns ranked at the bottom of their lists. See accompanying chart. Chicago magazine would argue that the numbers tell the story. But do they really? Do the numbers tell the story if the numbers are wrong?

In a quick study of the rankings of Lake County villages, Lakeland Newspapers found a number of errors in the numbers used to tell the story. Beyond the errors, area officials are debating the methods used to determine suburban ranking.

For story, see Page C1.

Village names recall area's past

ALEC JUNG
Staff Reporter

How did area towns get their names? The three villages which send students to Antioch Community High School have a history behind their names — Antioch, Lake Villa and Lindenhurst.

Antioch's first name was Gage's Settlement in the honor of the first settlers Darius and Thomas Gage who came to the area in 1836.

Antioch was a city in Asia Minor where Christ's disciples were first called Christians.

In 1843, residents decided to formally name the village. Since many of the early settlers were members of the Disciples of Christ congregation, the village was called Antioch.

Antioch was a city in Asia Minor where Christ's disciples were first called Christians.

It was suggested that residents put forth the name as a joke, which was accepted by the religious majority.

Lake Villa was first called Lake City from 1883-84. It was founded by entrepreneur E.J. Lehmann who owned the downtown Chicago Fair Store. Lehmann constructed a hotel and convinced railroad officials to put a stop there.

ACHS board looks to future and sees two high schools

ALEC JUNG
Staff Reporter

Antioch Community High School Board is committed to having two high school buildings in the long term future.

However, the short term includes continued upgrading and planning to make the current high school ready for 21st century learning, according to Dr. Dennis Hockney, superintendent. The board will be looking to various constituencies in the community to determine how the two school format should be implemented.

"This has got to be a community decision, not a school board decision," Hockney said.

Hockney added staff will formulate a plan to assure all interested community members will have input on this crucial decision. He expects to present those plans to the board in about two months.

The constituencies would include all Antioch, Lake Villa and Lindenhurst communities, Antioch and Lake Villa township residents, teachers, parents, administrators and students.

The board was considering two options. One was a one-school format and another would call for two campuses.

School officials feel the current school just wouldn't make sense as a long range site for one school.

"We don't have the acreage or the infrastructure," Hockney said.

Hockney cautioned the two-school format is necessary only if growth projections are accurate and residential growth continues.

Antioch gets sewer capacity increase

ALEC JUNG
Staff Reporter

Antioch will receive a significant increase in sewer capacity from the new Lake County sewer plant in Old Mill Creek.

The plan is expected to be operating in 1998 and will service the northern area of the county including the eventual Abbott property on Rte. 173. Under the new agreement Antioch will be allocated a capacity of 22,000 population equivalent, according to Village Administrator Tim Wells.

"It translates into about 1 unit per acre," Wells said.

The agreement only covers the land east of the Deep Lake Road, according to Mayor Marilyn Shineflug.

This agreement has nothing to do with the boundary agreement signed with Lake Villa three weeks ago. Village officials explained they didn't have sufficient capacity to go south of Beach Grove Road.

The county agreement only related to land east of Deep Lake Road and didn't encompass the other unincorporated areas.

This land is part of another boundary agreement signed with Lindenhurst in 1995.

Wells also said the village's density limit on residential housing will remain at two units per acre and won't be raised because of the increased capacity.

All communities in the Lake County system were also given sewer capacities from this plant. The plant will be shared by Abbott Laboratories, Antioch, Old Mill Creek and unincorporated Lake County.

Waterfalls restaurant wins Chef Cuisine contest

ALEC JUNG
Staff Reporter

An Antioch restaurant came out on top in a competition of more than 100 restaurants in Lake County.

The contest was at the Chef Cuisine Benefit for the Victory Hospital Foundation. The Waterfalls entree tornadoes of beef prepared were by Chefs Taso Tsiopelas and George Katris.

"This is the first time we were in the contest, said manager Vince Leone. "We were surprised we came in first place considering the competition was so stiff."

Tornadoes of beef is sauteed beef tenderloin with bearnaise sauce.

The secret of the entree according to Leone is the sauce.

"We leave it alone for eight hours," Leone noted.

The chefs were not about to say what is in their secret sauce. You will just have to try it for yourselves.

"It was a group effort that made this a success," Leone said.

The contest pitted the best chefs and restaurants throughout Lake County.

The proceeds of Chef Cuisine help defray the costs of Lake County's HealthReach Clinic. More than 3,000 Lake County received general healthcare through the clinic in 1995.

The clinic is a non-profit, volunteer organization that relies on community donations to supplement funding received through federal block grants. It was established in 1992 to provide healthcare for area residents who are living below the poverty guidelines and don't have easy access to healthcare.

The winning entree will be available as part of the champagne brunch this Sunday.

Cedar, Sun Lakes home to rare plants

ALEC JUNG
Staff Reporter

Lake Villa residents ought to be proud of the two ecological gems right in their backyard, according to a College of Lake County biologist.

Linda Curtis follows wetlands and monitors restoration projects throughout the county. She stresses two of the most pristine areas in the county and the state are Cedar Lake and Sun Lake.

"You have an ecological treasure that people don't know anything about," Curtis said.

Cedar Lake and Sun Lake each are home to rare plant species rarely seen in lakes throughout the state.

"Cedar Lake is the only lake in Illinois that has the water marigold," Curtis said.

The marigold usually blooms at or around Labor Day.

Other endangered plant species found on the lake include the fern leaf potamogeton, and grass leaf potamogeton. Sun Lake also has the potamogeton species and native water millfoil.

Curtis noted the invasive Eurasian Millfoil on Cedar Lake has been killed off by a bug dubbed the "weevil" by biologists. This species threatens other water plants and makes it difficult to boat because it's so thick.

Because Cedar Lake hasn't been chemically treated to control plant and algae, the weevil was able to naturally attack the millfoil, according to Curtis.

Also a stand of cattails is located near Allendale School. These were created when there was a sewage plant at the school.

She added some lakes aren't doing nearly as well. As an example Lake Zurich has a salt water plant growing in it because of the high quantity of road salt entering the lake.

She said where Cedar Lake is left untouched is where the high quality water plants are. Sun Lake is protected because it has no direct access.

ACHS student again best state averages

ALEC JUNG
Staff Reporter

Antioch Community High School students continue to score above state averages according to standardized state tests.

The school board heard the results of the latest Illinois Goal Assessment Placement tests. These tests revealed students are faring quite well compared to other state schools.

"Students were above state goals in all subject areas," noted Dr. Dennis Hockney, superintendent.

The highest scores came in social studies where 89 percent of students met or exceeded state averages.

The math scores were the next highest with 83 percent at or above the state mean. The science scores were also impressive with 77 percent or above meeting or exceeding their state average.

The lowest total was in writing with ACHS having 53 students above the state average.

"We don't have any dramatic ups or downs. We are still looking to constantly improve overall," Hockney said.

In other business, the board is likely to adopt a policy on equal access which means students will be allowed access to facilities and buildings for their organizations and clubs. This is more a formality to endorse what the board is already doing, according to Hockney.

Also, the board is likely to adopt a policy on student distribution of materials. Basically, the board will allow free access for students to publish materials as long as they are not disruptive to the school or considered obscene and offensive.

Trustees decide against art work at train depot

ALEC JUNG
Staff Reporter

Antioch trustees agreed not to allow Antioch Community High School students to display art work in the Metra station.

While supportive of student work, trustees felt display of the work at the station might set a precedent for other, more undesirable uses. They also were concerned with a possibility of vandalism.

"If we start this practice, we will have to continue it for many other things," said Trustee Mabel Lou Weber.

The school asked trustees if they could display art work at the station for one week.

"We have had many requests," said Mayor Marilyn Shineflug. "We would like to support individual businesses but where do you draw the line?"

Also, many newspaper vendors have requested to put vending machines at the station as well.

Trustee Dorothy Larson felt safety of the work also could be a problem.

"I would hate to see a good effort go to waste," Larson said. Shineflug said there should be better locations where the work would be less at risk.

Trustees agreed to work with the school to find another location for the art work.

Grass Lake students get election lesson

ALEC JUNGE
Staff Reporter

Grass Lake students concluded their study of the election process with a mock presidential convention and guest speaker Illinois House Majority Leader Robert Churchill.

Students ended weeks of classroom discussion on the issues and candidates by electing President Bill Clinton. Clinton received 139 votes, Bob Dole tallied 85 votes and Ross Perot had 31 votes.

"We spent time discussing the issues and terms like what conservative and liberal mean," said Teacher Carolyn Adams.

The convention has expanded from the middle school students to all the students participating.

Each grade level read out their convention tally as they announced the roll much like it is actually done at the conventions.

To tie all of this together was Churchill. He talked to students about the importance of voting.

"The most significant day of all days is election day. That day is when we choose who we want to run this country," Churchill said.

He added no voter is more important than another.

"It doesn't matter how rich you are or how poor you are or how pretty you are. On election day we are all equal," Churchill said.

Churchill stressed each vote is critical as many elections are won and lost by the narrowest of margins. He provided students with a few examples.

He won his first representative race by 30 votes. He said that averaged to be about 1/3 of a vote in each precinct. One vote in Congress dictated English would be the official language over German.

Churchill stressed he is in favor of keeping the long presidential campaigns which last about 1 1/2 years.

"It gives people a chance to get to know the candidates," he said.

He stressed not voting is really entrusting your views with someone else.

"They let other people make that decision and I don't think it is right," he said.

Churchill encouraged students to vote in each and every election to make sure their voice is heard.

He mentioned the real power rests with the people. Their votes decide who will represent their interests.

Students will vote again on election day to see if the numbers change.

Rotary auction draws crowd

ALEC JUNG
Staff Reporter

Antioch Rotary Club had another highly successful and well-attended auction and pork chop dinner.

The event drew at least 500 people, according to Linda Pedersen, chairwoman. A live auction of more than 100 items went extremely well with some high bids.

"We had people sitting in the bleachers," Pedersen said.

The auction netted $52,000 in sales, according to Pedersen.

The dinner tallies are still being counted. Pedersen added with the food items, the sales could reach $60,000.

"This is one of best auctions we have had in a few years," Pedersen said.

The bulk of the money will go toward providing Antioch Community High School students scholarship money.

Some of the higher bids included $3,100 for a murder mystery for 30 people, a Super Bowl party for 30 went for $3,000 and a skybox seat for 30 people at a White Sox game was sold for $2,400.

Majority Leader Robert Churchill graciously offered a page for the day. The prize is an opportunity for a resident to be allowed the chance to shadow and observe him at Springfield for a day. This netted $1,250 for the Rotary.

Popular sports memorabilia included autographed jerseys from Brett Favre, Michael Jordan and Scottie Pippen. Jordan's sold for $700 while both Favre's and Pippens bids were $400 a piece.

The auction and dinner is the main fund raiser for the Rotary. Rotary usually collects about $50,000 from the event.

The money not used for scholarship will go directly back into the community to non-profit organizations. How much of that money goes back to the community and to what charities is yet to be decided.

This month is all about birthdays

There are a lot of folks within the realm of the Schrieber/Pringle/Ladin circle celebrating birthdays this month—VISA is going to be real happy with me this month! My mother-in-law—Marguerite Pringle, who now resides in the balmy breezes of Florida, my sister-in-law, Karen Schrieber, my uncle, Frank Smith, and my nephew, Alex Ladin. Although I don't think it would be appropriate to mention the ages of my mother-in-law and sister-in-law (my mother-in-law especially would not take kindly to that little shared tidbit), my uncle could probably care less if I reveal his age—he's at that age where he can't remember himself.

I can tell you though, that "Our Pal Al" will be a whopping two-years old. Although he doesn't talk a whole lot yet, and he's not potty trained, and he has abdominal table manners, he certainly does make one chuckle now and then. Of course I can laugh at him because he's not mine. He is the kind of kid that you never forget is around, the sort of child I prayed my sister would have. After all her child-free years of hot meals, undisturbed night sleeps and freedom, I especially take a fancy to her current chaotic life. I thought when young Alex tore the molding off the stairs with his bare hands he was perhaps a little uncontrolled but when the child threw his rubber ducky in the toilet then purposely flushed it, well I think that is when my sister started looking for that Military pre-school I never found. His daddy was not a bit happy about that little escapade and mommy was at a loss. Most all parents have been there, staring in a toilet, wondering the exact value of the flushed item and thinking: do we really want to go in after it or can it be replaced at the local Toys R Us. Now because this toy was a "rubber" ducky, it was a buoyant little thing. After all it's whole purpose in life was to float on top of bath water, so it managed to get stuck in the base of the toilet just under the floor. No amount of Roto-rooting would dislodge the little bobber. Now having never taken Plumbing 101 in college, my brother-in-law did what any child-screaming pursued father would do: he simply ripped the toilet up from the floor and sure enough Alex's little yellow bath toy was still in tack. After three complete dishwasher cycles, Alex was reunited with his duck. Fortunately several weeks have past since this incident, otherwise I'm afraid young Alex might have a small showing of birthday presents from the home front.

There is also a special birthday being celebrated at the McCameron household. Their little Alex will be turning one this month. All must be going relatively well as mom Cheryl is still keeping Antioch's fine Parks and Recreation Department up and running. Happy Birthday Master Alex and as always I certainly hope you get a ton of boy toys!

Now seeing as I did quite a number on our dear Father Hanley last year, I better just stick to a safe and mundane "Happy Birthday" to the Padre, after all he does have friends in very high places!

I also couldn't help but notice that one of our Camp Crayon teachers, Miss Lois is celebrating her big day this month. I wonder if she will bring in a good snack that day for treat time and receive a "Happy Birthday" certificate and sticker from the Head Honcho in charge. I'll be sure and look for your ornament on the birthday tree Miss Lois—I can't wait to see the age on that little hummer!! I bet the standard small apple ornament that all the little Campers get won't cut the mustard with the number of digits in her age.

As for all you other young whipper snappers who will be celebrating your big event this month, Happy Birthday; Don Bergl, Dorothy Bies, Jamie Brausam, Briana Dembinski, Larry Edelman Jr., Russ Fairchild, Marc Fechtner, Dan Philips, Joey Gaimo, Sara Groh, Ryan Hansen, Justin Kasprzak, Eddie Lindstrom, Ursula Martens, Charissa Misch, Shondra Moon, David Mozal, Debi Mozal, Joey Nava, Amanda O'Connor, Brett Parnski, Nicole Schaller, Meaghan Shannahan, Kirsten Smith, Paige Tybor, Christine Vos, Patti Vos. And so goes another "Jingle from Pringle"...don't forget to call 395-6364.

Staff Reporter

A former Antioch Community High School student is hoping to become Miss USA.

Hoerle

Gina Hoerle, 20, of Antioch is a sophomore at Illinois State. She has earned a place at the Miss Illinois portion of the Miss USA Pageant.

"This kind of competition is an excellent experience," Hoerle said. "I really hope to do well, and that it will lead to opportunities and be a growing experience for my future."

Hoerle was pleased to make it to state level competition.

"This is one the strongest state competitions in America, and I'm proud to have been selected among the hundreds of applicants that are processed," Hoerle said.

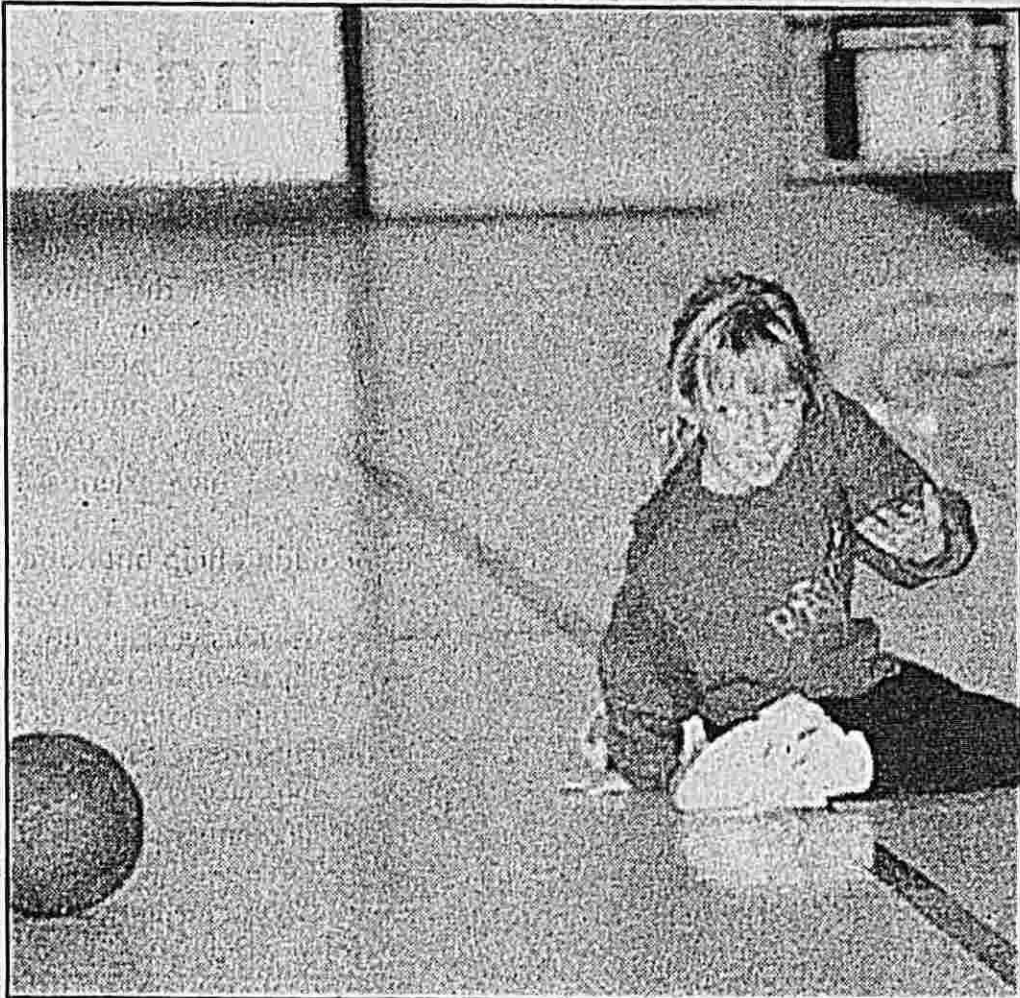

Hoerle is a former ACHS cheerleader who participated in several activities before she graduated.

She was a member of the National Honor Society, was a chairwoman of Student Government, Antioch Vikings cheerleading coach from 1990-95, member of the National Education Association and the Partner's in Reading program.

The contest will consist of swimwear, eveningwear and question and answer formats. She is seeking sponsors to help her finance the $895 scholarship fee.

The contest will be held November 29 at the Woodfield Regency in Schaumburg.

YMCA goes to Oakland for after school program

ALEC JUNG

Staff Reporter

A school/ Hastings Lake YMCA program gives students a safe place to go after-school while their parents work.

Antioch Elementary District has allowed Hastings Lake counselors to coordinate a program at Oakland School. The students can stay after-school up until 6:30 p.m.

"This is the first time an Antioch School has offered an after-school program," said Cathy Golla, Hastings Lake teacher.

So far the program has been embraced by the district and parents.

"It was well received by the school and parents," said Stacey Siwek. "It's been positive for the school and for us."

The program provides students with a chance to get a little outside time to use some of that excess energy from sitting most of the day. Instructors also plan a wide array of activities.

Golla said students work on projects relating to art, science and math. On Fridays, the children head to the YMCA for swimming lessons.

The program is available for children from K-5.

Siwek said the program size of 30 children affords more one-to-one contact with each student.

"They give a lot more personal attention to the kids,"

Siwek said.

Students also work on their homework after their outside time.

Siwek said the program has a waiting list. She said Hastings Lake would like to expand the program to other schools.

Siwek added parents appreciate that their children don't have to bused and stay at the school.

The children also find they can meet new friends during this time.

"Some met in summer camp but many of them are forming new friendships," Golla said.

Thelen plant spreads far as eye can see

ALEC JUNG

Staff Reporter

Antioch area businessman Vern Thelen opened up his business to Antioch Rotary Club members who were amazed at the vastness of his operation.

When asked how many buildings were on the 1,100 acre property, Thelen joked "I don't know." Seriously, Thelen's business has grown considerably from his humble beginnings.

"When I was 13 I opened a ready mix business with a horse and cart. In 1945 they put me out of business because they had trucks," he recalled.

In 1947, he opened up his ready mix business by himself. Now he employs 190 people at his massive sand and gravel facility. Many of them are longtime workers.

"I have someone who has worked for 35 years. His two sons worked for us and now his grandson works for us," Thelen said.

A look around the Antioch township facility off Rte. 173 reveals a cement ready mix area, sand and gravel operations along with a new composting area. "We're always looking for new ways," Thelen remarked.

The composting area accepts grass and lawn materials from waste haulers and municipalities. The grass and branches are ground in a conveyor system and sent in temperature controlled rows.

It takes about 120 days for the material to reach the desired form.

The piles are overturned periodically with a Scarab machine which churns the dirt. They stay at least 130 degrees even during the winter months, according to supervisor Tim Crumb.

Crumb said the composted material is sold back to golf courses or lawn materials companies such as Scott's.

Coordinating the activities is a computerized communication room loaded with the capability to track driver movements, orders provide loading instructions and it even has its own weather station.

Ken Hinzpeter demonstrated how he can track weather movements from throughout the Midwest. He added it helps their customers decide if they want to order material.

In addition, the computerized tracking of accounts means the company can plan orders seven days in advance.

Thelen said he sells 23 different types of sand and gravel. He also has companies which use his ready mix material on site.

Thelen also owns 1,400 acres in Wisconsin. "I can look over Gander Mountain and I own everything for three miles," he noted.

The Thelen family history in the area goes a long way back. His great-grandmother was the first school teacher at Johnsburg.

Antioch Junior Women gearing up for anniversary year

ALEC JUNG
Staff Reporter

Antioch Junior Women's Club is preparing to commemorate 10 years of good fellowship and community service.

Linda Pedersen, one of the founding members of the club, recalled how it all started in 1987. One of the main reasons the club started was because of the time of the Women's Club meetings.

"A lot of women were unable to make the meetings during the day," Pedersen said.

A few women decided to form a Junior Women's Club. The first meeting was held at the Antioch Public Library.

"We had so many people we immediately had to move to the First National Bank," Pedersen said.

The organization now has about 45-50 members and meets once a month.

Besides meeting and having an opportunity to socialize with others, the group is committed to community service.

"We all have to join a committee related to community service," Pedersen said.

The group has contributed to such organizations as the Antioch Rescue Squad and Public Action to Deliver Shelter (PADS).

Activities planned for the anniversary year include a PADS Christmas project where backpacks will be filled with personal items donated to PADS. The group is also planning a babysitting clinic and is working on a Tenth Anniversary celebration which is a Comedy Night, March 8, at St. Peter's Social Center.

Past presidents of the group also have served at the regional level such as Vickie Axton, Terry Korom and Pedersen. The current president is Amy Winters.

CARING FOR OLDER FEET

By the time a person reaches retirement age, the feet have put on countless miles, borne a cumulative weight of several million tons, and suffered assorted bumps, stubbings and other injuries. Good foot-care habits are essential for keeping the feet in good working order.

Walking is the best exercise for the feet. Choose shoes with firm soles and soft uppers. Bathe feet daily in lukewarm water, using a mild soap. Never cut corns or calluses yourself.

Inspect the feet daily for discoloration, swelling numbness, sores, brittle nails and skin cracks. Don't delay in seeing the podiatrist if these or other foot problems develop.

Past

The next known name was Stanwood 1884-86. After that the issue of when the area became Lake Villa is unclear.

Two sets of historians place the name change to Aug. 21, 1886.

Another piece of evidence came from United Methodist Church records which indicate their church was moved from Avon to Lake Villa in 1892.

The village was formally incorporated in 1901.

Lindenhurst was named after a large farm in the village, according to Carol Garcia, assistant village clerk.

"There was a large farm located right about where the village hall is which was lined with Linden trees," Garcia said.

The village filed for incorporation in the summer of 1956 and received incorporation papers in January of 1957.

CLC biology teacher honored for methods

ELIZABETH EAKEN

Staff Reporter

Admittedly borrowing a quote from someone else which states something to the effect of "lucky is the man who's job is his hobby," Jerry Hinckley a biology instructor at the College of Lake County (CLC) said "that's me."

Hinkley, a resident of Grayslake, has taught biology at CLC for 26 years. He has received a two-year College Biology Teaching Award from the National Association of Biology Teachers for 1996.

The award recognizes his teaching effectiveness inside and outside the classroom as well as professional development, leadership and service to students. He was chosen from a slate of 30 finalists and about 500 nominees from community colleges nationwide.

"I think it's a pat on the back to the college and biology department," he said of the award. "All of us in the department have been here a long time. I really think it's a group effort."

Interestingly, he said his nomination for the award came from a woman in California who had the opportunity to watch his night club act for teachers.

"I started doing the program a couple of years ago for a state biology teachers group," he said. He hopes the teachers "steal what they want" from the act which is mainly a fun way he has of teaching cellular metabolism.

In Hinkley's estimation about 2,400 students have passed through his microbiology program alone.

"I have a former student on every floor of every hospital in Lake County," he said jokingly.

Hinkley doesn't believe this could be far from the truth because his classes are requirements for nursing students. Talking to Hinkley on the phone, it's not hard to imagine him entertaining students so well that they learn in the process.

When he's not in the classroom, he can be found in places as exotic as the rain forests of Costa Rica and the African wilderness. Hinkley takes many of these trips as part of field study classes he teaches. He noted he went down the Amazon River once by himself in a dug out canoe while on sabbatical.

"A lot of these things I've done sound dangerous, they sound whiz bangy," he said. Once the adventure wears off they aren't as exciting, he assured.

Hinkley said one thing he's been doing every spring since 1972 is taking a field study group to the mountains of Virginia which he dubbed the salamander capital of the universe.

"I show students different kinds of plants and fresh orchids are in bloom. It's a really neat thing for beginning students to see. They learn to name 100 plants," said Hinkley.

In addition to microbiology, he teaches environmental biology. He is an academic advisor at CLC and involved in several professional organizations.

Hinkley has done extensive photography in 26 countries on six continents and has had his photos grace nine covers of American Biology Teacher Magazine.

Locally he has served on Woodland District 50 school board for 16 years. He is a little league baseball coach and is active in the Boy Scout program. indicated growth wasn't coming as fast as originally anticipated.

There are no immediate plans or thought toward locating a facility or what grade levels would be in the building. That is a decision the community will provide.

There is no timeline of when the board will get the community input or for acquiring or paying for a second high school.

The board is expected to adopt a resolution supporting a two campus format at the Oct. 24 board meeting.

No matter how you look at it, the Grayslake High boys and girls cross country teams were in for a tired 48 hours.

A Thursday dual with Marian Central was followed by a 12-minute endurance test in physical education classes. The next day, it was off to the Niles West hosted meet.

"It was a nice meet and the girls ran pretty well," Rams coach Joel Peebles said.

Michele Tessman finished in the top 20 at Skokie with a 12:37. Jamie Reiland was 34th in 12:53.

"Michele ran her best race - she did not run in physical education class and she was more rested," Peebles said. "Tessman ran a strong race."

The fourth and fifth places dropped for Grayslake, to 102 for Tina Fish in 14:16 and Jeanna Marcanti in 14:28 for 112.

Grayslake was 11th in the red division with 289 points, missing the top two by two points.

The girls had lost to Marian Central 27-30 in a dual meet for a 3-1 NWSC mark and dropping out of the race for first.

Fish came through for the Rams with a 14:06 for seventh place. "She is a gamer - when the chips are down, you can count on her - I have known that for the last three years in cross country and track," Peebles said.

Tessman was fourth in 13:31, followed by Jaime Reiland in 13:44 and Amanda Anderson was 12th in 13:44.

Antioch gained a sixth place at its own invitational with 126 points. Mundelein was 10th with 343 points on the two-mile course.

Lina Rothermel was Antioch's leader in 12:58, for 10th place. Several personal bests were notched: Shayne Jacobsen took 26 seconds off her best for a 13:22; "Mouse" Barbic took 45 seconds off her best with a 13:29; Cara Henneberry took 38 seconds off her best time with a 13:40 and Megan Mitchell set a new personal best by 21 seconds.

Rivalry is not a factor between Cross Country siblings

AMANDA MILLER
Correspondent

Brothers and sisters don't always get along when they are involved in similar athletic activities. But, for two Antioch Community High School siblings, rivalry doesn't seem to be much of a problem.

Liana and Ryan Rothermel of Antioch have both been involved in girls and boys Cross Country teams since their freshman year. Both students currently hold great records for their teams.

The main reason for the lack of competition or rivalry between the two Rothermels is that they participate in Cross County for different reasons. Liana, a junior, got involved in Cross County for enjoyment and other purposes.

"I just really enjoy the running, it's a lot of fun," said Liana.

One of Liana's biggest reasons focuses on the fact that she is an accomplished figure skater. Liana is currently at Junior Lady status, this is compared with the Senior Lady status of the Olympic skaters.

Liana has been skating since age 2 1/2. She started to seriously compete at 4 years old. Now, at 16, Liana still wakes up at 4 a.m. to get at least two hours in on the ice almost every day. Liana is not competing nationally, but she does do solo performances at the Kenosha and Zion ice shows every year. So, for Liana, being on the Cross Country team benefits her other athletic ability as well.

On the other hand, Ryan, a sophomore, looks at the organization as a way to keep in shape for other pursuits.

"I think it's fun and I enjoy the challenge, but I do it (Cross County) to keep in shape for See SIBLINGS page A3

ACHS golfers claim title, focus set on regional meet

STEVE PETERSON
Staff Reporter

Whether it be as a caddy, playing a round of night golf, chili golf or on a more serious note, winning the North Suburban Conference title, one thing can be said of the Antioch High golfers: they appreciate the sport.

"We have four seniors and three juniors who have carried us all year. This was a great culmination to the season," coach Roger Alm said of the Sequoits.

Antioch won the NSC meet with a round of 324, three better than Stevenson. Jeff Crivello led the way with a 78 to top all scores at Steeplechase Golf Course in Mundelein. Mike Nielson was right behind with a 79.

"I have been working on my putting. We don't have a lot of long hitters on this team, we just all come together as a team," Crivello said.

"Mike and Jeff played well and Steve Drengler (83) did OK. It is a tough course," Alm said.

Brett Cromeans shot a 91 for Antioch's fourth score.

"We played well this year. We were 9-2 - the best record we have had in duals, won our invitational and the golfers had a lot of fun. They play all the time," Alm said.

"After losing to Mundelein by a shot, we took revenge on the rest of our meets," Cromeans said.

Shawn Hansen, Peter Schmer and Tony Hunsberger have also contributed to the Antioch success.

Stevenson's scores were led by an 80 by Mike Schatzman.

"We had a pretty decent score, but Antioch had two 70s and that was the difference. The greens were tough - it was a tough course," Stevenson coach Fred Cremer said.

Marc Harris had an 81 and Brigham Hanlon and Nick Oldfield 83s for the Patriots' 327.

Counting dual meets, Antioch won the title with a 13-12 point margin over Stevenson.

Libertyville gained fourth place with a 339 and was led by Brian Sayers' 81, sixth overall.

Nick Fish led Mundelein's 345 with an 82.

Warren tied Mundelein with a 345. Charlie Schlosser, a junior, gained the final medalist spot with an 84. Jon Savage had an 85 and Jeff Dempski had an 87 and Brady Van Heirseele a 89.

"It plays with a lot of hills and water. Playing Bittersweet (Warren's home course) helped because this is very comparable," Schlosser said.

Warren had downed Northwest Suburban Conference champ Grayslake by nine strokes in a dual meet, 162-173.

Josh Navarro had a 39. "He said his putting and chipping worked well," Warren coach Alex Richardson said.

He was pleased with the effort at the league meet.

"The scores were much better - we are playing with confidence and are much more positive," he said.

With the conference meet behind them, the focus turned to the Oct. 10 regionals. Antioch was at Elgin, Stevenson at Deerfield.

The Antioch Boys Golf team won the North Suburban Conference Title.

Antioch shows its weapons, wins

Diversity is a good thing in investing as well as an offense in football.

Antioch High showed East Aurora with many weapons in a 27-7 win which evened its record a 3-3.

Joe Day scored two touchdowns as he ran for 105 yards in 13 carries with TD runs of 4 and 14 yards in the second half. It was Jeremy Grace who started the scoring with a 4-yard TD run in the second quarter. He finished with 75 yards.

"It helped a lot," coach Del Pechauer said of the weapons from the backfield. "Dave (Gooch, quarterback) ran the option well - it was fun to see."

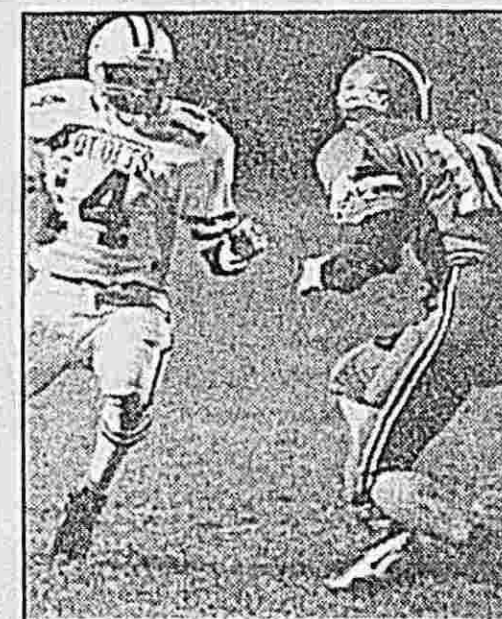

The Tomcats used eight or nine men on the line of scrimmage most of the time, meaning the Antioch offensive line had to do the job and they did. "With nine guys up front, someone is going to miss a tackle and all you have to do is find a seam for a long gain," Pechauer said.

Rob Moore and Jeff Ultes were seniors who took over as Stu Johnson was not available. Johnson is expected back for the Oct. 12 1 p.m. home game against winless North Chicago.

"Stu is or leader, but we had other guys step up," Pechauer said, Nick Kirichkow, a senior defensive back, turned in a key interception with Antioch ahead 14-7 but the Tomcats were driving.

The win keeps the Sequoits hopes for a winning season and a possible playoff bid alive. Games with Mundelein and co-conference leader Lake Forest conclude the NSC season.

Antioch Traveling team takes three of four from Warren

Three of the four Antioch Sunday Traveling football teams won hard fought games against teams from the Warren Packer Football program Sunday in Gurnee. The Antioch Lightweight and Featherweight teams remained unbeaten and the Viking Pee Wees won their second game of the season. Antioch's Heavyweights battled Warren evenly, but came up on the short end of a 12-6 score. This weekend Antioch returns home to host Mundelein beginning at 9 a.m. with the Pee Wee game. All games will be at Antioch High School.

The Antioch Raiders Featherweights earned a hard fought 7-0 win over the Warren White team. Both teams found yardage hard to come by through out the game. The Raiders defense was anchored by Scott Gehrke, Dino Katris, and Jeff Welter.

The only touchdown of the game came when Brett Bairstow broke free for a 31 yard scamper around the left side of the offensive line. Chris Orozco scored the extra point. Quarterback Trent Domel remained cool through out the contest despite pressure from a tough Warren defense. The Featherweights are now 5-0 and host Mundelein Pintos Sunday.

The Viking Leightweights won their sixth game of the year—36 straight game—with a tough 30-6 victory over Warren. Running backs Bobby Grasser and Mike Smith scored two touchdowns each and QB Mark Purnell kicked three extra points as the Vikings remained in sole possession of first place—one game ahead of the Round Lake Spartans. Smith went 25 yards for the first TD early in the second quarter behind excellent line blocking of Bill Banser, Ryan Roberts, Anthony Sprovieri, Jim Huspen, Eric Sesko, Justin Mehaffey, Josh Kaminsky, and Lincoln Barnett and Purnell kicked the extra points—two points are awarded for a kick. The Viking scored two more TD's in the second on runs by Bobby Graser of 37 yards and four yards by Smith. Antioch held a 24-0 lead at half.

In the third quarter, Grasser scored from two yards out. Smith had three excellent punts that oinned Warren's offensive team deep with poor field position. Grasser was again the top defensive player with 11 tackles. Chris Richardson had eight tackles with Smith seven tackles and Dane Anderson and Matt Elliott six each. Anderson and Billy Merker each had a fumble recovery and defensive end Eric Schultz blocking a Warren punt. Smith rushed for 106 yards on nine carries, Grasser had 76 yards also on nine carries.

The Antioch Pee Wees won their second straight game—26-12 over the Warren Packers. Warren scored first on the second play from scrimmage on a 55 yard run, but the Vikings stopped the Packers extra point attempt and controlled the game the rest of the way. Chris Pollack carried the Viking offense scoring three touchdowns on runs of 40, 32, and 19 yards with Taylor Pechauer adding a fourth TD on a 52 yard pass interception return for six points as time expired in the first half. The Antioch defense played outstanding again this week and were led by Chris Cabrera, Luke Seznov, Derek Hartman, Arron Hewitt and Mike Ano.

Despite another excellent defensive performance by the Antioch Heavyweight defensive team, the Vikings came up on the short end of a 12-6 score with Warren. In a battle of unbeaten, Defensive end Pat Swanson, defensive back Alan Rapinchuk, and line backer Scott Hodina played major roles against the Packer offense. "I was real proud of our defensive effort", noted head coach Al Roth. Hodina had another pass interception and scored the lone Viking TD on a 64 yard QB keeper/sweep.

Thunder blasts Blast

The Lindenhurst Thunder Girl's U10 Soccer team played Northwest United Blast to a 2-0 victory. With several teams battling for top positions within the Illinois Women Soccer League (IWSL), the outcome of this game was important. Northwest United team gave an outstanding effort, but were turned back by Lindenhurst aggressive offense. Both Lindenhurst's goals were scored in the first half of the game. The first goal was scored by Gina Florian 10 minutes after the start of the game. A forward pass from Megan Placko was crossed by Holly Roberts to Gina Florian for the shot. The final goal of the game came several minutes later when Pam Staton passed the ball to Holly Roberts, who setup Melissa Lulofs for the shot. Quick defensive action by Michelle Marturano and Stephanie Sweeney kept the Northwest United Blast offensive shots to a minimum. Outstanding goalkeepers were Calla Myslinski and Amanda Otten. The other Thunder team members contributing to the win were Janelle Buss, Carly Richter and Elizabeth Willding.

Frosh, senior lead ACHS girls golfers to 7th in loop

A newcomer and a veteran paced the Antioch High girls golf team to a seventh-place finish at the Intersuburban-North Suburban Conference combined league meet.

Antioch had a final score of 424 strokes in the meet at Glenview Park District's course.

Senior Sarah Rockow had a 98 to lead the Sequoits. Sarah Groh, a freshman, had a 103 to give Antioch two top 10 finishers.

"Rockow played well off the tee and she had 33 putts, which is a little under her average," Antioch coach Steve Wapon said.

Groh was a "delight as a freshman. She gets better every week. Her confidence grows more and more as she is able to handle situations such as bunkers," Wapon said.

Lisa Murphy carded a 106 while Veronica Pazanin had a 123. Pazanin is a promising sophomore.

"She is in her first year of golf and she has improved with experience," Wapon said.

Junior Abby Clark had a 120, Angie Pedersen a 124.

The Sequoits lost two close dual meets last week. They lost to Deerfield 200-202 and to Waukegan 199-198.

Murphy had a 48 against Waukegan, Rockow a 49. Groh had a 48 against Deerfield, Murphy a 51. Soph Kacy Sehmer had a 52.

The junior varsity team had a best-ever third place finish at its invite. They had a 449 score behind St. Charles and Glenbrook South.

Kristen Hungarland led the way with a 100 and Groh had a 102. Brittany Cable, a frosh, had a 118.

Antioch was at Waukegan's regional. "If we play the way we are capable, we could do well," Wapon said.

Siblings

triathlons that I compete in," explained Ryan.

In the beginning, Ryan's main sport was swimming. But, two years ago Ryan found himself interested in the triathlon. During the summers, Ryan and his father travel all over the country and he competes in places like Mississippi, New Mexico and Alabama. This past summer, Ryan competed in the National Junior Triathlon in Roswell, New Mexico. Ryan came away as 19th in the nation for his age group.

But, this very athletic brother and sister combination compete very rarely with each other. They do participate in the Chicago Road Races over the summer and run a 5K, 10K, and a half marathon, but not always together.

"Liana seems to like the longer races better than Ryan so there's no real competing," said Marsha Rothermel, mother of Liana and Ryan.

Neither Bob nor Marsha Rothermel, the students parents, were outstanding athletes in high school.

"We were (athletes) somewhat, but not to the extent that Liana and Ryan are," explained Bob.

The Rothermels do support their children very much in their own athletic pursuits.

"My parents come and watch us all the time," said Liana. "They really like us to be involved... it keeps us out of trouble," added Ryan.

No matter what their different reasons for running in the Antioch Community High School Cross Country teams, both Liana and Ryan agree that they want to run in college. They defiantly enjoy themselves and that is the most important part.

Antioch, Mundelein in standoff in NSC tie

Antioch and Mundelein took turns with strong halves of scoring chances, but both defenses remained solid in a North Suburban Conference tie.

The two teams battled to a 0-0 standoff on Tuesday at Palley Field. Mundelein goalie Scott Sawik survived a flurry of Antioch chances in the closing 30 seconds to preserve the tie.

"We had our chances in the first half, but neither team was lucky enough to get it in the net," Mundelein coach Dave Eckstrom said.

Mundelein's Chris Porter had his team's best chance with a run through play, the coach said.

The tie gives MHS a 6-7-3 record overall, 2-0-2 in the North Suburban Conference.

Antioch coach Brad Wilson likes his team's improvement from a loss last week at Stevenson.

"We have been playing much better - we had been in a slump," Wilson said.

Antioch does have the schedule on its side in the future matches. The Sequoits are at Rockford Jefferson Oct. 12 then finish the regular season at home.

Lake Zurich begins the string on Oct. 14.

Libertyville stayed on top in the NSC with a 4-1 win over Warren.

Rommereal Overton scored the first half Warren goal but Libertyville dominated the second half.

The Blue Devils were forced to play one player shy the last 15 minutes after a controversial call.

"Libertyville is tough enough to play against full strength, let alone a player down. We kept going after them, but gave something up at midfield," Warren coach Bob Tatgenhorst said.

Warren and Mundelein had fought to a 1-1 tie earlier in the week. "I thought we dominated the match - we had 17 shots to their three," Tatgenhorst said.

Clay Scott has anchored the Warren defense in front of John Weir.

Lindenhurst Rockets suffer first loss of season

The Lindenhurst Rockets suffered their first loss of the season losing to the Mt. Prospect Wildfire by a score of 2-0. The Wildfire's goals came in the second half on a cross to a forward left unprotected in front of the foals and on an indirect kick awarded in front of the goal. The Rockets failed to score on several opportunities during the game. Melissa DeMeyer broke through the Wildfire defense several times with one shot hitting the crossbar and then cleared by the Wildfire defense. The Rockets were also unable to convert on penalty kick awarded when the Wildfire was called for a handball in the penalty box. The loss put the Rockets' record at 3-1-1.

Lindenhurst Power

The Lindenhurst Power took on the Naperville Cyclones and despite scoring two goals, was able to come away with only a 1-1 tie. The Naperville goal was accidentally scored by a Lindenhurst player who was trying to clear a loose ball away from in front of the goal area. The Lindenhurst goal was scored by Sarah Richardson who rocketed a well placed shot from about 20 yards out that sailed over the NSA keeper inside the right post. Jourdan Phillips made a game-saving play from her sweeper position when she cleared away a ball that got by the Lindenhurst keeper and was ready to cross the goal line. Other players who had strong games for the Power were Nicci Estep, Christy Plotz, Cara Robinson and Jamie Wismer. The Power is now 3-1-1 on the season.

Lindenhurst Rockers

The Rockers played a big double-header this week with mixed results. The Rockers traveled to Wauconda and defeated the Chiefs 2-0. Kristina Gopp scored with thirty seconds left in the first half assisted by Cheron Whiting and Annie Heath for a 1-0 lead. Vicky Garrison scored with just under three minutes to play assisted by Lauren Cole to seal the victory. Lauren and Erin Jouppi shared the shutout in goal. The defense was superb led by Robyn Mortenson, Beth Fries, and Tanya and Felisha Gapinski. The second game was played at Polley field vs. the visiting Glenview Force. The Rockers lost this hard fought battle 2-1 as the Force scored with just seconds remaining in the contest. Kelly O'Connell scored the lone Rocker goal assisted by Kristina Gopp. Last week the Rockers tied visiting Palatine 1-1 with Cheron Whiting scoring assisted by Stephanie Willding.

Royal Eagles beat Lightning 4-0

The Lindenhurst Royal Eagles, U-13 Boys Soccer Team took on The Naperville Lightning Sunday afternoon. The game had just started when Ramesh Kumar sent a kick to Brian Walsh. Walsh had the break-a-way and put it in for the first score of the game. Later in the half, Tommy Woodruff took a pass from Walsh and he was off to the races. Woodruff put a nice move on the goal keeper and got the second score. Outstanding goal keeping by Adam Jordan in the first half made the difference. He stopped seven shots for sure goals. The second half opened up with Adam Placko feeding the ball to Woodruff for a goal. Later, Taylor Groth did some magic from a pass from Lemuel Jares for the final goal. Outstanding defense in the second half from Cory McHale, Kaleb Barrett, David Gustafson, Matt Boller, Ramesh Kumar and Ian Fekete, didn't allow the ball to get to the goal. The final was Eagles 4 Lightning 0.

Preserving our Past

Lake County Museum is celebrating 20 years at Lakewood Forest Preserve.
The museum, which traces its roots to 1957, continues to expand its facility and programs and will open a new wing this fall.

Nestled in the woods of Lakewood Forest Preserve is one of Lake County's gems, the Lake County Museum, a legacy to the past filled with thousands of artifacts showing what life was like here back through the turn of the century. Historical preservation goes back even further with a glacier rock found in Lake County which dates back millions of years.

Lake County Museum is celebrating 20 years at Lakewood Forest Preserve this year and museum officials have plans for expansion and hope to increase public awareness of this local treasure.

The museum has a storied history, originally being privately formed by Robert and Verna Vogel and Dr. and Mrs. Lawrence Qualman in 1957. A collection of Lake County items was housed in Wadsworth in a barn on Route 41 and Wadsworth Road until 1965, when the founders sold it to the county, and the collection was housed in storage in Lake Zurich.

The county was lucky in moving the collection when it did, for the barn was struck by a bolt of lightning soon thereafter and burnt to the ground.

by SPENCER SCHEIN

"It was pretty fortuitous, or else everything would be lost," said Stacey Pyne, visitor services manager of the museum.

That's where the collection remained for the next decade, with only small exhibits being held in banks or shopping malls.

In 1976, the county purchased the Lakewood Forest Preserve, and as a bicentennial project, remodeled an old dairy barn into what is today the Lake County Museum, at 27277 Forest Preserve Drive.

Now celebrating 20 years in the forest preserve, the museum is starting a rejuvenation project that museum officials hope will increase its awareness and attendance.

With more than half a million people residing in the county, the museum achieved its highest attendance the past year with a paltry 30,000.

"We are doing everything we can to let people know about us," Pyne said.

In November, the museum will officially open up a new wing which will house an exhibit tied together with America's Centennial of manufacturing automobiles.

Entitled "Model A to Z28: America's Love Affair with the Road," the exhibit will feature examples of what the roads used to look like, and what cars drove on them.

Two cars, one old and one new, will be on display each month, highlighting how people traveled in the past and today. The cars will be rotated each month for the next year, with businesses and corporations sponsoring the exhibit.

An exhibit highlight will come next January, when concept cars from General Motors will be at the museum. Motorcycles will be featured next April.

However, cars are not the only focus of the new wing. "What we are trying to do is take (the manufacturing centennial) and highlight the Curt Teich postcards," said Christine Pyle, museum membership and systems coordinator.

Pyle served as project manager for the new exhibit, and said that postcards and original photographs from the collection will be used to accent the exhibit, showing depictions of culture and travel.

One section of the wing will be set up to resemble a drive-in theater. Two bench seats from a van will be situated in front of a large mural of cars, which will look like an actual theater scene. See MUSEUM page B5

Teenagers!! They can sometimes drive you nuts!

Teenagers! They can drive ya nuts! My belief is, if you can manage to not be intimidated by them and also be able to understand them better, you will do far better in dealing with them. Not getting intimidated is really the tricky part because they can be very intimidating. I got a letter and a call about teen-age issues so we'll look at that this week.

times, it seems easier to give in to the haranguing and let the kid do what he or she wants to. The danger in this is the risks you mentioned.

Think back to when you were a teenager. You and I both felt that we were old enough to make our own decisions and that parents were evil people who had nothing better to do than get in the way!

Now look back and tell me that you really were able to make those decisions clearly. I'll tell you that when I look back, I thought I was ready terms of rules being followed to get privileges. I usually work with parents to stand their ground and make sure that the child does not have the access to up the ante if the child threatens to do so. I highly suggest that if your teen is out of control beyond what you feel able to deal with successfully, you need to access some professional help to get it under control.

Keep in mind that certain behavior is normal. At that time in life, the child is trying to separate from the family, acquire his or her own identity and feel competent. Those things are all OK when kept within reason.

I usually tell teenagers that they have two choices. One choice is to follow parent's appropriate rules, tell the truth, and do the right thing so they can keep their freedom and have all their privileges and parent's trust.

The second option is to not follow rules, lie, and then ultimately lose their freedom, privileges and parent's trust. Most teenagers I've talked to agree with the first option, at least in words. They may not like it, but they agree. The earlier you start setting rules and limits, the easier it will be.

One last thing: Embarrassing a kid in front of friends does nothing to help rules get followed or relationships to be good.

Discussions can happen away from friends. Make sure you are being appropriate in your rules and it will work itself out in the future. Good luck.

PARENT'S PLACE

Sherri Singer, Psy.D.
Licensed Clinical Psychologist

Dear Dr. Singer,

I have a 12 year old daughter who seems constantly angry at me and my husband when we try to limit her social activities that seem too risky for her age. She accuses me of being too protective and embarrassing her in front of her friends. I need to make sure she doesn't get in trouble and also want to make sure that she is doing the right thing, especially with the risks out there today. Am I wrong to get in the way? H.K.

Dear H.K.,

No, you're not wrong! Quite honestly, I'm impressed with your commitment to your child. Many and now know I was nowhere near ready.

When dealing with a teen or pre-teen, you have to understand that you cannot be "friends" with this child unless you are willing to give in to every desire. Most parents I know do not want to do that, for the child's sake. Being friends takes a back seat to making sure the child survives and thrives. If you can expect that you will get some, "guff" from the teen, it's easier to handle. The reality of this situation is, when there's risk, a parent's job is to get in the way and reduce or get rid of the risk.

Raising a teen is really no different than raising a younger child in

'Assassins'

Apple Tree Theatre, located on the corner of Elm Place and Second Street, Highland Park, presents Sondheim's "Assassins." A daring and provocative political cartoon set to music that marches through the centuries to examine a segment of society isolated by their absurd notions of the American Dream. Alternately tragic, comical, and disquieting, this social commentary illuminates the minds and dreams of infamous criminals from John Wilkes Booth to John Hinckley.

'Phantom' will capture your heart

"Phantom of the Opera"

Don't hassle with Chicago traffic! Stop circling round and round Chicago streets to avoid high priced parking lots! Forget about paying "Downtown" prices for theatre tickets! Instead, get in your car and take a lovely, autumn drive to Lake Zurich.

Community theater is back in Lake Zurich thanks to Morra and Ken Priess, both Lake Zurich residents and professional performers. They have revived the Lake Zurich Playhouse to be a year round community theater that will concentrate on musicals.

The Lake Zurich Playhouse was originally founded in 1945 by Bella Itkin the director of the Children's Theatre of Chicago's Goodman Theatre. The Playhouse was a summer stock training ground for young actors, and its company members were all Goodman students. Itkin's busy schedule at the Goodman theatre kept her from continuing to run the Playhouse, and after new management took over in 1950, it eventually closed a few years later.

Lake Zurich has a rich tradition in theatre and is happy to bring the community "Phantom" for the Playhouse's first performance.

The musical brings to life the classic story of the Phantom of the Opera and his love for the beautiful Christine. This version of "Phantom" is based on the book by Arthur Kopit with music and lyrics by Maury Yeston. Based on the novel "The Phantom of the Opera" by Gaston Leroux, theatre goers will not hear the famous Broadway music of Andrew Lloyd Weber's "Phantom" but, don't despair. Director Morra Miller-Priess is delighted to be directing again and has gathered a most talented local cast to bring the stage alive with wonderful song!

As you enter the theatre one may wonder how such a large cast will fit on this small stage, but as the first song begins you are immediately captured into the story and you begin to focus on the performer's great talent and beautiful costumes, and can't wait for more!

Loriann Riccetti (Christine) has studied voice for 12 years with Evelyn Czaja. Her numerous roles include Maria in "West Side Story," Tuptim in "The King and I," Hodel in "Fiddler on the Roof," and Julie in "Carousel."

Riccetti's portrayal of Christine brought tears of joy to the audience's eyes with each song she sang especially when singing "My True Love" to the mysterious Phantom.

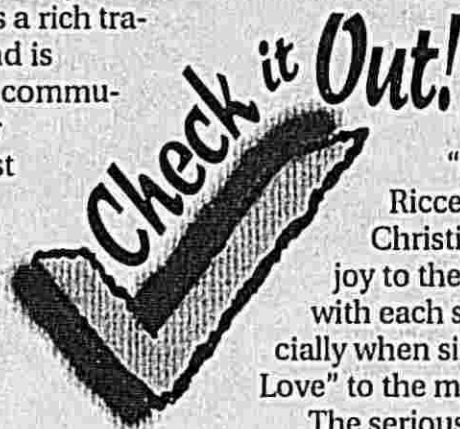

The serious, strong character of the Phantom was exceptionally well performed by Ken Priess. Priess has performed in more than 30 productions in the north-west suburbs. Some of his favorite roles include the Baker in "Into the Woods," Mack Sennett in "Mack and Mabel," Albin in "La Cage Aux Folles," the Poet in "Kismet," and Eddie in "Do Black Patent Leather Shoes..." Through his wonderful singing he captures the audience into sharing his great love for Christine to where you hate to see intermission come to break the spell.

Carlotta, the almost-talented wife of the new manager of the opera house, is portrayed wonderfully by Morra-Miller Priess. Morra Priess nearly steals the show with her professional acting ability and comedic facial expressions in drawing the audience into her character to see what she will be up to next.

You don't want to miss this fantastic, dedicated cast and beautiful music of Lake Zurich Playhouse's "Phantom" and be captured into this wonderful tragic/love story.

Show dates are Oct. 11, 12, 13, 18, 19, 20, 26 and 27. Friday and Saturday performances begin promptly at 8 p.m., Sundays at 3 p.m. All performances are held at Lake Zurich Middle School South, 435 Cuba Rd., Lake Zurich. Tickets are $12 for adults, $10 for students and senior citizens. For ticket reservations call, 540-5932.—by

The No Hassle All-Inclusive Honeymoon

by JIM WARNKEN, PRESIDENT
NORTH STAR TRAVEL, INC.

All-inclusive resorts are fast becoming a popular vacation choice, since they provide a truly carefree atmosphere.

Even more than the annual vacationer, though, these "one price covers all" properties are attracting many honeymoon couples and for good reason. At what time in a couple's life is it more important to have stress-free vacation than on their honeymoon?

At an all-inclusive, there is no need to be concerned about how much to tip the guy who brings your bags to your room. You'll never suffer "sticker shock" from the menu prices at resort restaurants. No need to think twice about what your bar bill will be if you order that fancy rum drink with the umbrella in it. No $30 per hour costs for windsurfing or scuba diving lessons. There's also no charge for the great entertainment you'll be treated to every night.

All this, and much more is included in the one up-front price you pay for an all-inclusive resort vacation.

The most popular of the all-inclusives, and one who deals exclusively with couples, is Sandals Resorts.

Sandals offers resorts on the island of Jamaica, one on Antigua, two on St. Lucia, another on Barbados, and their newest in the Bahamas. All include gourmet dining at a choice of restaurants, drinks, anytime snacks, scuba diving, sailing, windsurfing, entertainment, tips, taxes and a whole lot more. Some now even include golf.

Having visited most of the Sandals properties, my personal favorite is Sandals in Negril on the island of Jamaica and Sandals Dunn's River Falls, also on Jamaica, a close second.

Stay away from "Sandals Inn" located in Montego Bay, since it does not have a private beach. Also, while the larger "Sandals Montego Bay" does have a great beach, its right next to the airport, so you might want to avoid it, too, unless you grew up around O'Hare as did I, and the sound of jets is second nature.

Ciboney, San Souci and Swept-A-Way, also on Jamaica, Bolongo Beach in St. Thomas and the Harmony Club of Bermuda are other good choices for all-inclusive honeymoons.

A man who needs no introduction

If at all possible, I make it a point to try to find a silver lining in whatever cloud tries to dampen my day, or in this case my vacation. So despite being a victim of "SEATTLE RATE" and paying $119 for a $58 room, I decided that perhaps this was fate.

Maybe some unseen force had brought my son Will and I to Seattle on this particular evening so that I could: A. See the President and B. Raise the limit on my credit card.

When we reached our hotel room, it was 5:00 p.m. We set down our bags and flipped on the TV to a local news channel. To our surprise, a newscaster announced that President Clinton was due to arrive in Seattle at 5:30 for a public rally to be held at Pike Place Market.

"That's only five blocks from here," said Will. "Maybe we should go."

"You don't have to ask me twice. Let's go right now," I said, racing my son to the door.

Not that I was excited or anything. I am, after all, a hard-nosed, professional writer/journalist. Which is what I tried to explain to the man selling Clinton/Gore buttons at the rally.

"$3, huh? Is there any discount for being a member of the press? OK, never mind. I'll take that one - Bill and Al look cuter with the gold background."

The atmosphere at Pike Place Market was exciting, despite the steady rain. I had never been to a political rally before. And with '60s music being played over the loudspeakers, and a large number of long-haired, tie-dyed folks in the crowd, I suddenly felt as though I had stepped into the past.

When the police searched my purse and ran a metal detector over me, I had to suppress the urge to shout "Pig!"

A few minutes later, I began singing "All we are saying...is give peace a chance," until the woman next to me reminded me that the Vietnam War was over.

I even thought I detected the smell of marijuana smoke, but don't worry - I didn't inhale.

Although the President did not arrive on time, he at least thought to provide us with some big-name entertainment in the meantime. To my delight, the lead singers from the band "Heart" arrived on the stage to perform for the crowd, singing politically relevant lyrics like "Let me go crazy, crazy on you" (perhaps related to our recent bombing of Iraq).

Finally, when we were so wet that it would take a village to wring us dry, the moment we'd all been waiting for arrived - President Clinton stepped onto the stage.

After a few short words by Mayor Norm Rice of Seattle, the President received a rather "unique" introduction by the Democratic candidate for Governor of Washington, Gary Blocke:

"And now," said candidate Blocke, "I am proud to introduce to you, the Breast President this country has seen in many years..."

As you can well imagine, the crowd began to titter. However, President Clinton is an accomplished speaker, and he quickly made them forget the error, enthraling the crowd with his recent achievements, and his plans for the next four years.

It was an experience I will never forget. The only thing I regret is that I couldn't have ridden in the limo after the rally with President Clinton and Democratic candidate for Governor, Gary Blocke. I can only imagine their conversation:

BLOCKE: "I'm sorry, Mr. President. It was just a slip of the tongue."

CLINTON: "At least you didn't tell the crowd I was 'Building a Bra to the 21st Century'."

Museum

A television set will be in front of the seats, playing videos related to autos and safety, Pyle said.

More than 200 images of Route 66 taken from the Teich collection will be featured in a computer game.

Another section of the display will feature comments from famous people from Lake County on what their first car was and their favorite memories of automobiles.

Responses have so far been received from James Lovell, Bob Sirott and Marshall Field, Pyle said.

A concession area of the wing will be designed to look like an old '50s diner.

Open seven days a week, the Curt Teich postcards receive the most attention, with research requests coming in from all over the world.

The museum received the collection in 1982 from Lake County resident Ralph Teich, the youngest son of the company's founder.

The company was in Chicago from 1898 through 1978, when it closed, however the family had close ties to the county, having owned a summer home here, Pyle said.

The museum has millions of Curt Teich postcards and photographs, but only 360,000 are catalogued on a database, which allows museum staff to locate postcards according to category.

But that is not the only area of information people want to see.

"We get a lot of genealogy requests," Pyne said. People want to know about their family's history, what existed on their land, and when parts of their homes were built, she said.

The museum also has more than 50 programs per year for children, youths and adults, and has a number of hands-on exhibits for kids.

Museum officials are working with an outside design firm and are expecting to make some major changes to exhibits in the next two to three years.

On-going exhibits through next January are related to archaeology and quilts.

Upcoming programs include a Carriage Drive on Sunday, Oct. 13, a Fall Heritage Motorcycle Run on Sunday, Oct. 20 and the Brighton Car Run on Sunday, Nov. 3.

The museum is open Monday through Saturday from 11 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., and Sunday from 1 to 4:30 p.m.

Admission is $2.50 for adults, $1 for children ages 4 to 17 and free for children three and under.

Title not only 'Extreme' in Grant flick

The new Hugh Grant movie, "Extreme Measures," reaches the extreme long after the picture's title fades from the screen. Grant goes from playing his usual mindless, yet charming and fragile British romantic, to the opposite extreme in portraying a bonefide sensible and bright action hero.

Grant is a visiting English neurologist who finds himself entangled in a mysterious medical web that involves two naked homeless men photographed running in the streets of New York. One later dies convulsively and seemingly without cause in Grant's adopted hospital.

When Grant starts asking questions all hell breaks loose, mainly inspired by the villain, Gene Hackman, who plays a not so ethical doctor working on rejuvenating the spinal column so cripples can walk. Is he using human guinea pigs?

This is the first time we have appreciated Grant's acting prowess sans all the fluttering, blinking and shy charm he has been known for. We saw a promo interview with the picture's producer, Elizabeth Hurley, Grant's real life girlfriend, who claims that Grant's "Extreme" character is more like the Grant she knows and loves.

Can't you just see it. The director yells action and when Grant starts to blink, Hurley's voice hollers "cut the crap Hugh, that's not cute anymore."

Grant and Hackman do their roles more than justice, but the presence of Sarah Jessica Parker, playing an emergency room nurse, seems to be there merely to supply a little sexual spice. As it turns out, it's very little and her salary was an unnecessary expense.

Grant retains his charm and wit while being convincingly serious as he busily investigates the mysterious goings on, diving deeper and deeper into danger.

The writing and the expertly controlled pace of "Extreme" are the real scene stealers in this movie. The hysteria grabs the audience during the opening action-filled scene where the homeless men are being chased and continues "Fugitive" style to the end.

We give "Extreme" 3.5 stars out of a possible five stars, wishing that a little more freshness could have been injected into some of the dialogue.—by GLORIA DAVIS

Gardening doesn't end in fall

The other evening while I dashed outside to cover my vegetable garden to protect it from the predicted frost, I realized that summer is really over. Before long, I will be uprooting the spent plants in my vegetable and flower gardens. Though I try to hold onto the season as long as possible, I know my gardens are due their winter's sleep.

Which brings to mind fall gardening. What, you don't do fall gardening? Fall is a great time to start a compost pile. After the growing season is over we need to replenish the soil. Plant life robs the soil of its nutrients and if we do not put back what has been taken out over time our soil will not be rich in minerals. So to prevent this, we put the spent plants back into the earth and thus the earth is fortified again.

When uprooting your spent plants, don't throw them away, recycle them. I use my annuals to mulch around the perennials in my garden (i.e. I use the dried marigolds to mulch rose bushes) to blanket them from the winter's chill. Don't be surprised in spring if you have some "volunteer" marigolds sprouting! But wait until the first hard frost before mulching. This is a good time, while the earth is still friable to mound up dirt beside your roses to use as protection for the winter. I do not use styrofoam cones for this purpose, I prefer organic material. I works great for me!

Now with the trees shedding their leaves, you may think: What to do with all these leaves? For heavens sake don't burn them—recycle them too! They also make a good blanket for your perennial beds.

Gardener's Journal

by Lydia Huff

Now to get back to the compost pile. Leaves make a great addition to compost. You can gather leaves and other spent plants, layer them with dirt (a layer of leaves, a layer of dirt etc.). Cover this with plastic sheeting to hasten the rotting of the leaves, come spring you will have a rich peat mixture to incorporate into your garden.

Fall does not have to be an end to all your gardening projects. Bring some of your garden indoors to enjoy over the winter. I have been overwintering my hibiscus for three years now. Geraniums do very well indoors. All you need to do is dig them up and pot them in a rich potting soil. I like to fertilize them with a systemic fertilizer (you can find this at your local nursery), which contains an insecticide to kill any pests that may be lurking in the soil.

Also if you've had geraniums growing in pots, just bring them in. Place them in a sunny window and enjoy their blooms on gloomy winter days. If the plants become too straggly, don't be afraid to cut them back quite a bit, this encourages them to grow bushy instead of leggy.

Until next time, peace.

Versatile tomato shows its stuff

Tomatoes are a treat, especially when they're in season. In "Tomatoes Love Herbs" (Store Publishing, $9.95), Ruth Bass shares some 30 recipes built around this tasty vegetable. The range is from parsleyed tomato bisque and tomato bean blend with thyme to tarragon chicken and tomatoes and pesto tomato pasta. Her stuffed tomato recipe is perfect for a light meal.

Stuffed tomatoes nicoise

- 6 large tomatoes
- 2 Tbls. olive oil
- 6 shallots, chopped
- 1 Tbl. anchovy paste or mashed anchovies
- 2 Tbls. chopped black olives
- 1 Tbl. chopped fresh basil
- 1 garlic clove, minced
- 2 Tbls. chopped fresh parsley
- 1 tsp. capers, chopped
- salt and freshly ground pepper
- 1 can (7 ounces) white-meat tuna
- 1/4 cup dry white wine
- 1 cup cooked pastini or orzo (1/2 cup uncooked)
- 1/4 cup fine bread crumbs
- 1 Tbl. butter

Preheat the oven to 450 degrees F. Slice the tops off the tomatoes and hollow them out, reserving the pulp. Chop the pulp.

Heat the oil in a pan, add the shallots and cook until they are golden. Stir in the tomato pulp, anchovy paste, olives, basil, garlic, parsley, capers and salt and pepper to taste. Flake the tuna and add to the mixture. Blend in the wine.

Cook for two minutes; then add the cooked pasta. Fill the tomatoes with the mixture. Top with bread crumbs and dot with butter.

Bake about 15 minutes, or until the tomatoes are cooked through.—by TOM WITOM

Remembering the distant past to help Alzheimer's research

CLAUDIA M. LENART

Regional Editor

Dreamweavers Hypnosis Center is inviting residents to take a voyage through time — to their past lives — at an all-day past life dream interpretation, smoking cessation and weight loss.

"It's going to be a fun workshop. You can't talk about past life regression without one or two people saying, 'I've always wanted to knees together and began speaking in a high voice — he had been a woman.

Dreamweavers Hypnosis will take individual appointments for the regression workshop, starting at 8 a.m. up until 6 p.m. Each session lasts for one and one-half to two hours. Each session is videotaped, so the individual can see the details of the experience. To sign up or for more information call Kedzorski at (847) 333-8223.

Geoff Akins and Dennis Kedzorski regression workshop, Sunday, Oct. 13, at the Lake County Farm Bureau Building, 70 N. Rte. 45 in Grayslake.

A portion of the $75 fee will go towards the Greater Chicagoland Chapter of Alzheimer's Research. Hypnotherapists Geoff Akins and Dennis Kedzorski chose Alzheimer's research as the beneficiary because Alzheimer's patients lose their memory and regression therapy helps bring back hidden memories.

Akins of Ingleside and Kedzorski of Mundelein met at Grant High School when both were interested in magic. Over the years, that interest developed into dream interpretation.

"Our interest changed from magic to real magic," said Akins.

The two are registered hypnotherapists and members of the International Association of Counselors and Therapists. They have also held workshops in

Steps to success in your fitness lifestyle

TERRENCE KEMPHER

Following are nine steps to find success in your fitness lifestyle:

1. Decide that fitness is an important priority in your life. If it is not, you will not make the time nor put forth the effort necessary to achieve it.

2. Take action! Avoid the trap of idly wishing for fitness; procrastination is the sworn enemy of achievement. Get started! Find the program or routine that works best for you, something you can live with for life. Make your workouts fun by choosing activities you enjoy.

3. Make time to exercise. Schedule it into your day just as you would any other important appointment. Or workout in the morning before you go to work. This way you'll start the day positively, because you know you're keeping your commitment to yourself and your workout is already out of the way as you start your busy day.

4. Set clear-cut goals. Without a definite purpose you can't expect to achieve optimal results. Set a series of smaller goals as steps towards your larger ones. These smaller (short-term) goals will give you something by which you can measure your daily progress. Be sure your goals are specific, realistic and attainable. Give yourself adequate time to reach your objectives.

5. Erase limits. Don't let past failures and insecurities get in your way. You can positively program your attitude to achieve your goals. "What can be conceived and believed can be achieved!"

Use "positive self-talk." Restructure your thoughts into positive ideas. Say, "The new me starts now! I can do anything I set my mind to."

Every day, without exception, spend a few minutes relaxing and "visualizing" your goals as though you have already achieved them. See yourself the way you would like to look and feel.

6. Keep records. Maintain a fitness journal. Include pictures, measurements, body weight, body fat percent, etc.

Having your progress documented can be a powerful motivator. List your positive accomplishments as well as areas you need to focus on more. Remain positive and patient. Also record your eating and exercise habits to help determine whether your present patterns are helping you toward your goals.

7. Have a support system. One person's willpower is often insufficient to stay with a fitness program, or any lifestyle change for that matter. Your support system can include your family, friends, or professional assistance.

8. Accept the responsibility. Your life is your own; you alone are responsible for it. If your motivation is going to stay high, you must remember that you are involved in a fitness lifestyle for yourself (not to please someone else). In the end, your program will never work unless it's something that you really want to do for you.

9. Go for it!

Health department schedules flu, pneumonia vaccine sites

The influenza (flu) season is approaching. Influenza vaccinations will be available to senior citizens, ages 65 or older, from the Lake County Health Dept. Immunization Program at sites throughout the county during October and November.

The health department will be offering the pneumonia vaccine this year to those at high risk for pneumococcal disease, which include persons at least 65 years of age or adults with chronic type illnesses. This vaccine is given once and is repeated under certain circumstances. It is very important to remind seniors to bring their Medicare Part B cards which will cover both pneumonia and flu vaccines. For those not on Medicare, there will be a $9 fee for the flu vaccine, and a $20 fee for the pneumonia vaccine, based on ability to pay.

The health department offers the following important information about this coming flu season:

Adults and children who required regular medical follow-up or underwent hospitalization during the preceding year because of chronic cardiovascular, pulmonary, renal or metabolic diseases (including diabetes mellitus), anemia, or immuno-suppression, and otherwise healthy individuals 65 years of age or older are at increased risk for complications from the flu. In addition, flu shots should be seriously considered for children and teenagers (6 months through 18 years of age) who are receiving long-term aspirin therapy, since they may be at risk of developing Reye's Syndrome, a serious childhood disease that can follow influenza. These individuals should talk to their private physicians about getting flu shots.

Influenza is an upper respiratory infection that can make someone of any age ill. "Flu season" in the United States typically runs from December to April.

Flu symptoms include fever, chills, cough, and soreness and aching in the back, arms and legs. Although most people are ill for only a few days, some, particularly older adults and the chronically ill, can have a much more serious illness.

Senior citizens are recognized as a special risk group for flu and its complications, as illness can be very debilitating and hospitalization for flu and its potentially deadly complication, pneumonia, are common.

Having had influenza in the past may not prevent people from getting the disease again. The 1996 vaccine will offer protection against three influenza strains: A/Texas, A/Nanchang, B/Harbin. At each of the health department's senior flu clinics, nurses will interview and screen individuals requesting shots. Under certain circumstances the shot may not be postponed or a referral made to a physician for consultation. Those individuals include the following:

• Persons with a history of allergy to eggs or egg products.

• Anyone who has ever had Guillain Barre Syndrome

• Individuals with a fever or an active infection.

For further questions call the Lake County Health Dept. at 360-3114.

Don't worry...stay healthy

The flu season is upon us. There are ways to prevent getting sick, plenty of sleep, exercise, balanced meals and the flu shot. ## New health care reform law becomes major step forward

THEODORE E. DESCH

The Kennedy-Kassebaum health reform bill is precisely the sort of incremental approach to health care reform we have long advocated.

The portable coverage provision should help by curtailing exclusions for pre-existing conditions when a person changes jobs.

The one year waiting period for coverage in these cases is reduced by one month for each year the person was covered by the previous plan.

The same goes for someone moving from a company plan to an individual policy. In this case, insurers must guarantee coverage.

More self-employed persons are also likely to be able to afford coverage. The new law gradually increases the tax deductibility of health insurance premiums from the current 30 percent to 80 percent. There are also tax breaks for the premiums for long-term care.

One controversial provision of the law allows establishment of so-called Medical Services Accounts, or MSA's.

This is a four-year experiment that will allow up to 750,000 people to set aside tax-free money in an account to handle routine medical expenses, coupled with a high-deductible insurance policy for catastrophic health problems. Any unspent money in the account accumulates.

Opponents of this idea say it will appeal only to the young and healthy, thus creating an older and sicker risk pool for the rest of the population.

In signing the bill, the President termed it "a long step toward the kind of health care reform our country needs."

For the most part, we at Blue Cross agree. We do have misgivings about the MSA provisions, but we are willing to see how the experiment works out. We have long supported most of the other provisions of the new law, and, between now and the effective date of the bulk of the law, July 1, 1997, we will be carefully making any necessary adjustments to comply.

Asian spice, curcumin may help fight cancer

Anyone who has ever eaten Indian food has tasted the spice curcumin. Commonly known as cumin and turmeric, curcumin is not only used widely in Asia for cooking, but also to treat skin inflammations and ailments. Like many other common flavorings, including garlic, onions, parsley, and licorice, research studies are beginning to show preliminary evidence that curcumin, too, may have anti-cancer properties.

At the annual conference of the American Institute for Cancer Research, investigators summarized some small studies that have begun to experiment with curcumin's effects on skin, breast and colon cancers in laboratory animals and tissue samples:

Breast Cancer: In a study with cancer cells, researchers at Pennsylvania State Univ. found that curcumin may inhibit the activity of certain proteins that play a role in cancer development. This study is ongoing and has yet to identify other key factors that may interact in combination with the curcumin to affect cell proliferation.

Skin Cancer: Researchers at Chiang Mai Univ. in Thailand found that mice treated with curcumin before being exposed to carcinogens had significantly lower incidence of skin tumor formation and development than mice who did not receive the treatment. More research needs to be conducted in humans.

Tissue Inflammation: Scientists from the State Univ. of New Jersey found that curcumin suppressed inflammation caused by an enzyme called nitric oxide, which is produced by the body as an immune response to infections and to harmful substances. In this study, curcumin limited nitric oxide's effects to damage cells and possibly leading to cancer development.

Because a growing number of plant foods, including fruits, vegetables, grains and herbs, are being identified as having possible cancer-fighting substances, the American Institute for Cancer Research advises a wide variety of these foods every day. For a free brochure on how to eat for better health and lower cancer risk, send a stamped, self-addressed business-sized envelope to the American Institute for Cancer Research, Dept. TLP, Washington, DC 20069.

New CLC child-care center offers expanded hours

With the opening of the new child-care center on the Grayslake campus, College of Lake County students now have access to an expanded schedule and service.

The new center is the second child-care facility completed by the college in the last 18 months. Located in the recently completed D-wing on the Grayslake campus, the new center replaces an earlier facility operated on the north campus since 1984.

A new child-care center also opened in fall of 1994 on the Lakeshore Campus, allowing the introduction of child-care services there for the first time.

Children enrolled at the Grayslake or Lakeshore facilities are supervised by child-care professionals and participate in a variety of fun and enriching educational experiences including arts, crafts, music and games.

The child-care centers on both campuses accept children between 2 and a half years of age to 12 years. from 7:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. when classes are not in session.

Because the child-care centers are subsidized by the comprehensive student fee, the cost is a reasonable $2.75 per hour for children over age 3 and $3 an hour for those under age 3.

For information and registration, call 223-6601, ext. 2345 on the Grayslake campus and 623-8686, ext. 6250 at the Lakeshore campus.

Time to 'tea off' at Hickory Knoll

In the restaurant business, presentation is one of the keys to success. The presentation of the Hickory Knoll Cafe can be deceiving because it includes a breathtaking view of the driving range at Golf Farm from the main dining room and the spacious dining deck. Here one can "Tee-Off" on the driving range and then "Tea Off" later in the dining room.

New guests will find viewing the autumn panoramic changes of the picturesque countryside off of Rte. 12, between Rtes. 176 and 120, in Wauconda, a pleasant surprise. Hickory Knoll offers a casual dining atmosphere along with the finest American cuisine.

Owners Susan and James Fuller, and Randy Dickson, along with their experienced and friendly staff, invite everyone to try their specials: all day Monday it's chili time; on Tuesday it's healthy stir fry, and on Wednesday the Knoll offers a different kind of pasta each week with its own special sauce.

Thursday is Mexican Fiesta time! Ole! for the spicy homemade tacos, fajitas, burritos, nachos, etc. On Friday make room for some delectable seasoned char-broiled or pan-fried fish. Saturday features prime meat cuts, the finest steaks and chops, and on Sunday enjoy the football game over a plate of country fried chicken accompanied by a $1 draft beer.

On Friday and Saturday after 8 p.m., it's fun-to-music time with a variety of local musicians set to fill the air at the Knoll with live music that ranges from the Beatles to Bennet, and from Cajun tunes to Cabaret classics.

The Knoll and the Golf Farm, with its heated driving range and miniature golf course, are all open year 'round.

Pay a visit to Hickory Knoll, hit a few balls, and have a breast of chicken or turkey club sandwich, served by a pleasant and conscientious staff. Call (847) 487-2990 for more information.

Black Bear - dine in rustic comfort

Are you in search of authentic homemade German food? Or is it a Polish perogi that you've been craving? Maybe all you want is merely the biggest and best hamburger served anywhere. Then the Black Bear Chalet at 69 S. Washington in Fox Lake is the restaurant you've been looking for.

Owner Peter Pejas invites everyone to come and try the delicious items on his menu, from all-you-can-eat lasagna, to rouladen, a Polish Platter for a mere $5.95, or stuffed cabbage, sauerkraut and dumplings, as well as perogis at $8.95.

Dine in the rustic, and casual atmosphere of the Black Bear Chalet, complete with a cozy fireplace and a fully stocked bar. The all-you-can-eat Friday cod fish fry at $6.95 is a popular event at the Chalet.

Chef Kurt Albeck is proud of his homemade spaetzle and zwiedel fleisch smothered in cheese, as well the scrumptious wiener schnitzel, potato meat dumplings, or a duck platter for two that features half a duck, two dumplings, and stuffed cabbage, all served with a relish tray, soup or salad.

If seafood is your preference, shrimp de jong, delectable pike or flaky orange roughy, cooked to perfection, are appetite pleasers.

The Black Bear Chalet is open every day except Tuesday, from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. for lunch, from 5 to 9 p.m. for dinner weekdays, and from 5 to 10 p.m. on Saturday and Sunday. Call (847) 587-7933 for more information.

Horoscope

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) It's a week of give and take in your dealings with those around you. Don't allow minor setbacks to throw you off, especially as the week progresses. The weekend finds you happily ensconced in the bosom of family.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Don't let minor snags entangle you — which could cause some delays in business this week. Something that has been on the back burner comes to the fore. You are able to apply yourself to this with relish.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 20) Address that certain romantic decision you've been dancing around. Beating around the bush won't make it go away. Someone's patience is running thin on the job. The weekend is best for discussing a domestic problem which needs to be brought out into the open.

CANCER (June 21 to July 22) You and your mate are out of sync early in the week and a bitter argument is likely to erupt as a result. To avoid the fight, try being more solicitous and understanding. A business dream is realized by week's end.

LEO (July 23 to August 22) Don't be afraid of that new job assignment you're handed early in the week. It can lead to much success if you apply yourself. Some of your friends are trying to put you in the middle of their quarrel.

VIRGO (August 23 to September 22) Early in the week, a quarrel about money is possible. An assignment awaits that is connected to a group activity. Cooperation is the key to this. The weekend tempts you to overindulge in food or drink while socializing.

LIBRA (September 23 to October 22) You seem to have all the answers this week and others flock to you for your "expertise." However, don't let this go to your head. You're not as omniscient as you'd like to believe. The weekend promises sheer bliss romantically.

SCORPIO (October 23 to November 21) Someone is spinning quite a tale of potential riches, and you're buying into it. The road to success isn't a fast and easy one and you'd do well to remember this. It's best to exercise healthy skepticism.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22 to December 21) You're content, but perhaps a bit too complacent this week. Avoid falling into that trap by taking more of an initiative on the job. A possible quarrel with a loved one should be avoided over the weekend.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 19) Patience is the key to success on the work front. You are at your self-expressive best this week and should take full advantage of this. The accent for the weekend is on family issues.

AQUARIUS (January 20 to February 18) Your ambitions are soon to be realized. However, make sure you're on firm footing on the job with a coworker who's been manipulative in the past. Be careful not to spend too much while out shopping over the weekend.

PISCES (February 19 to March 20) You have an unfortunate tendency to let little things upset you too much, especially this week. A writing or speaking project is on your agenda in the near future. You excel in such communication and should show off your talents.

Elections affect all—'Let me buy your vote for a dime'

In 1968 Miriam taped a coin to a note to her niece, Robin. "If all my logic still hasn't convinced you," she wrote, "at least let me buy your vote!"

Robin, like so many voters, thought there wasn't a dime's worth of difference between the presidential candidates, that it made no difference who won, and that her vote wouldn't matter. She was wrong.

There is always a difference in candidates. Although Robin thought neither Hubert Humphrey nor Richard Nixon fit to be president, they were very different men with very different ideas.

The "lesser of two evils" may be a poor choice, but all of us are stuck with the winners.

Each election has many races, and they all affect our lives. The state and federal legislators, the county board, the alderman will make laws whether we like them or not. As the League of Women Voters emphasizes, "This election will affect you and the things you care about. Your job. Your taxes. Your health care. Your Social Security. Your children's education." It does matter who wins.

But how do you know which candidates to vote for? Start with your newspaper. Although the papers devote a lot of election coverage to poll results and pictures of candidates in silly hats, they also provide clear summaries of candidates' views on the issues. They analyze position papers, interview the candidates, and endorse those they think are best. Even on the impossible judicial ballots, they consider the ratings from all the bar associations in detail and make recommendations.

You can find real information beyond those annoying ads on the radio and TV. There are interview programs, debates, and editorial endorsements. In addition, many local organizations sponsor debates and forums where you can see and hear the candidates for yourself.

Still undecided? Choose two or three issues that are important to you. Call the campaign offices and ask what their candidate's position is on those subjects. For example, say, "I'm concerned about child care. What is So-and-so's position regarding the availability, affordability, safety and quality of care for my children?"

Make your own comparison on issues that matter to you.

Still undecided on some races? Forget those, but vote in the other races.

Why is it important for you to vote? Every vote counts. Very few races are decided by a single vote, but many elections are close. In 1994 less than half the registered voters went to the polls, so 25 percent plus one of the eligible voters could have chosen our lawmakers, judges, and executives for all of us.

Sometimes "stealth candidates" take advantage of low voter turnout to mount write-in campaigns that are never publicly announced.

One sympathetic voter tells another, until the stay-at-homes find their school or village board under the control of candidates they know nothing about. "Only one vote" plus another, plus another eventually adds up to a winner.

Still not convinced? I can't tape a dime to your paper like Miriam did, but your vote does make a difference.—by DONNA LOUNDA, National Council of Jewish Women

Teenage mother learns lesson, votes from her heart

I am not going to say my name. My family is a very traditional Mexican family and all this, even after three years, is still embarrassing for them. They still wear Mexican hats, eat tacos, go to church every Sunday and think that a girl should not have sex before getting married.

But, I was born in the United States. I speak English as my first language. I wanted to be like my school friends, go to parties and have fun. It was that way how I got pregnant.

It was terrible for my family. We were not able to talk about it for a long time. They were so angry when I said that I really did not know who the father was. I was so embarrassed that I never went back to school.

I did not have prenatal care and I did not ask for any help. I just stayed at home thinking that my life was all over. I am so glad that my family never thought about abortion. After all I am also Hispanic and for me and my family that child was another member of the family.

When the child came I found that it is not easy being a mother. I could not sleep one whole night because every two hours the baby was crying for food.

My friends used to invite me to parties, but I could not go because I had to take care of my child. I never had enough money to pay for Pampers, clothes and baby food.

I took jobs during the time my mother was able to take care of my child. I found out that since I did not finish high school they would only pay me $5.25 and even from these odd jobs I got fired after a short time. It was always because I had to stay at home and take care of my child when he was sick.

I should of probably looked for social services, but since my family never did that, I did not know how to do it. For every immunization shot I went to my private doctor and I paid for them. Sometimes I would dream of going back to school and finish my education, but because of my child it was impossible for me.

Just by accident a friend told me that I could have subsidized day care if I went back to school. I decided to go back to school. Now I am 18 years old and I will finish high school this coming year. Through the day care program I got connected with many other services. I am again in control of my life. Now I am afraid because some people are talking of cutting day care programs for teen mothers. That is way I registered to vote. I was always thinking that voting was not important. But I see that voting is very important. This year I am going to vote for the first time. I am going to vote from my heart.

Couple makes enjoyable transition to a new home

When Michael and Jill Meegan were transferred to the Chicago region from Dallas, Texas, they knew they would have a difficult time matching their beloved Dallas home with one in the Chicago suburbs.

Their search took them to Lake County, where after looking in several communities they decided on a home in The Preserves in Grayslake, built by Pulte Builders.

While there were several factors that helped persuade them to purchase a new home in Grayslake, one of the primary reasons was the "charming" Grayslake downtown.

"The town really has a hometown feeling," said Jill Meegan. "We wanted to be away from the city but still close to amenities such as shopping and entertainment."

The Meegan's "fell in love" with what The Preserves had to offer and the variety in the floor plans.

"We knew we wanted to have four bedrooms and a home that was suitable for entertaining," said Meegan. "The floor plan offered us that, with plenty of room to grow."

By RHONDA
HETRICK BURKE

The 2,850-square-foot home has four bedrooms, three full baths, a family room as well as a formal living room and dining room and a butler's buffet.

"We really use the butler's buffet when we are entertaining," said Meegan. She said one of the things the family likes best about the house is that it has a great traffic flow for entertaining guests."

The home is traditionally furnished with dark woods with many Queen Anne pieces.

The formal living room is fronted with large floor-to-ceiling windows and a pair of Queen Anne chairs and sofa in white. The walls are adorned with family photos as well as Colonial style paintings of children and animals.

adjoined. The formal dining room again features Queen Anne furnishings. The large dining room table is perfect for family gatherings at the holidays.

"We really use the formal dining room and living room on all the holidays," said Meegan. The jewel tones are used in the table runner to tie the house together.

At the entrance to the home, a large vase of silk flowers makes a dramatic statement as you enter.

To the left of the foyer is Michael's office. With a dark wooden desk and sporting memorabilia, the office easily gives a visitor a glimpse into his personality.

"He is a real golf enthusiast," said Meegan.

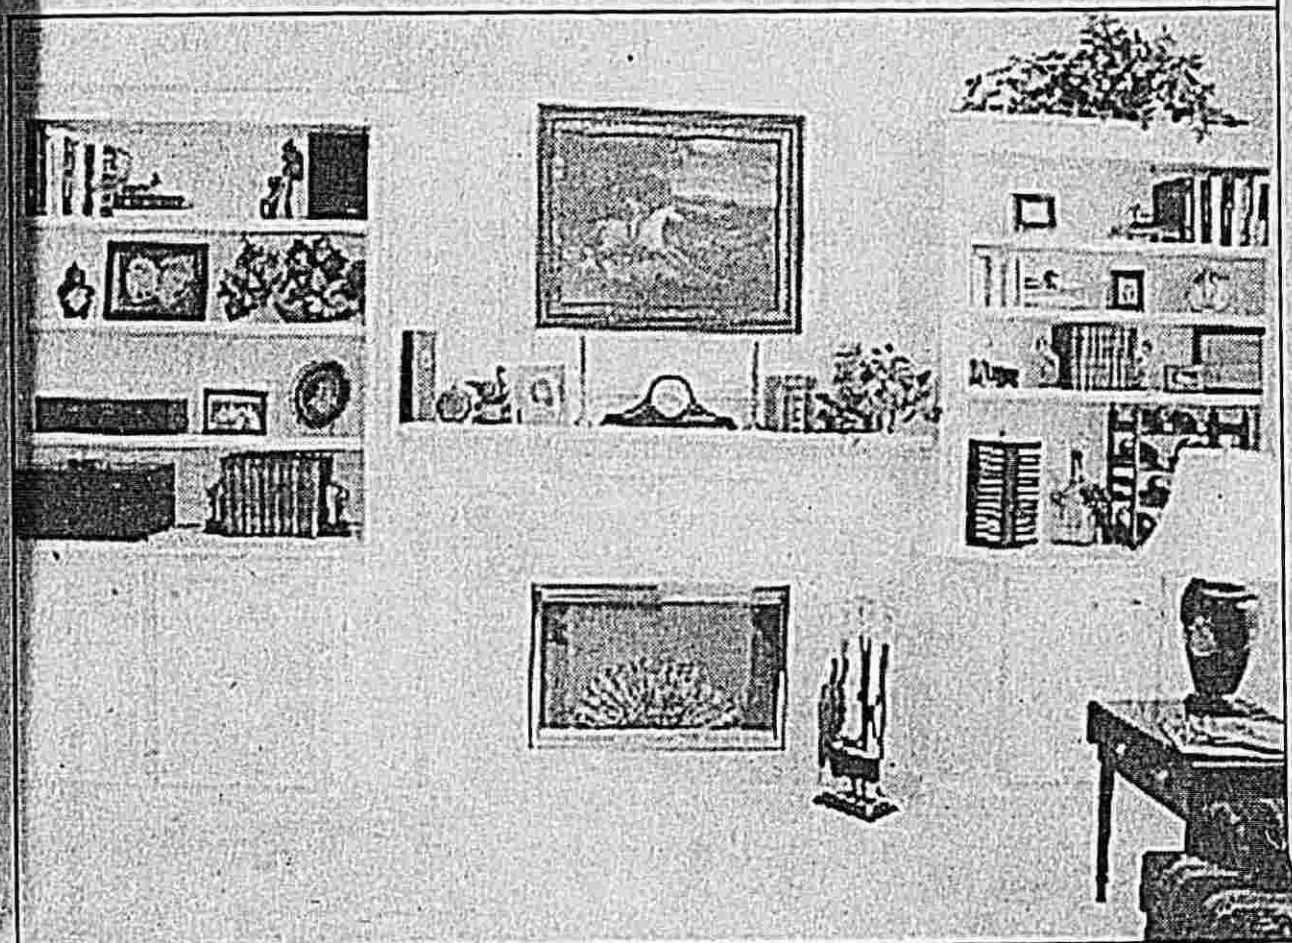

For the Meegans, the family room is the center point in their lives. They had cabinetry built across one entire wall. The center point of the wall is a gas-burning fireplace. The fireplace, cabinets and shelves are done in white, matching the cabinetry style in the kitchen.

The furniture is deep burgundy with matching lamps and art pieces on the shelves as well as Sheraton tables.

"The hunting scenes are something Michael really enjoys," said Meegan. "The house is really decorated with both our tastes in mind."

Tall windows from the floor to the ceiling give a view of the backyard and skylights further brighten the large room.

"We just loved the openness of the room," said Meegan. "We spend a lot of our time in the family room; it is warm and comfortable."

The bedrooms are all located on the second floor.

The master bedroom is done in dark green with Chippendale furniture. The adjoining bath features a whirlpool tub, long vanity area as well as a walk-in closet.

A desk fronts the large windows facing the back of the home as does a large chair.

"We use the chair for reading books to our daughter in the evening," said Meegan. "It's a place for all of us to be together and enjoying quiet moments in the evening."

McCall's room is definitely a little girl's haven. The 3-year-old has a large brass bed with plenty of room for her animal friends, a restored doll house and soft, feminine furnishings.

"I wanted her room to be very 'girlish,'" Meegan said.

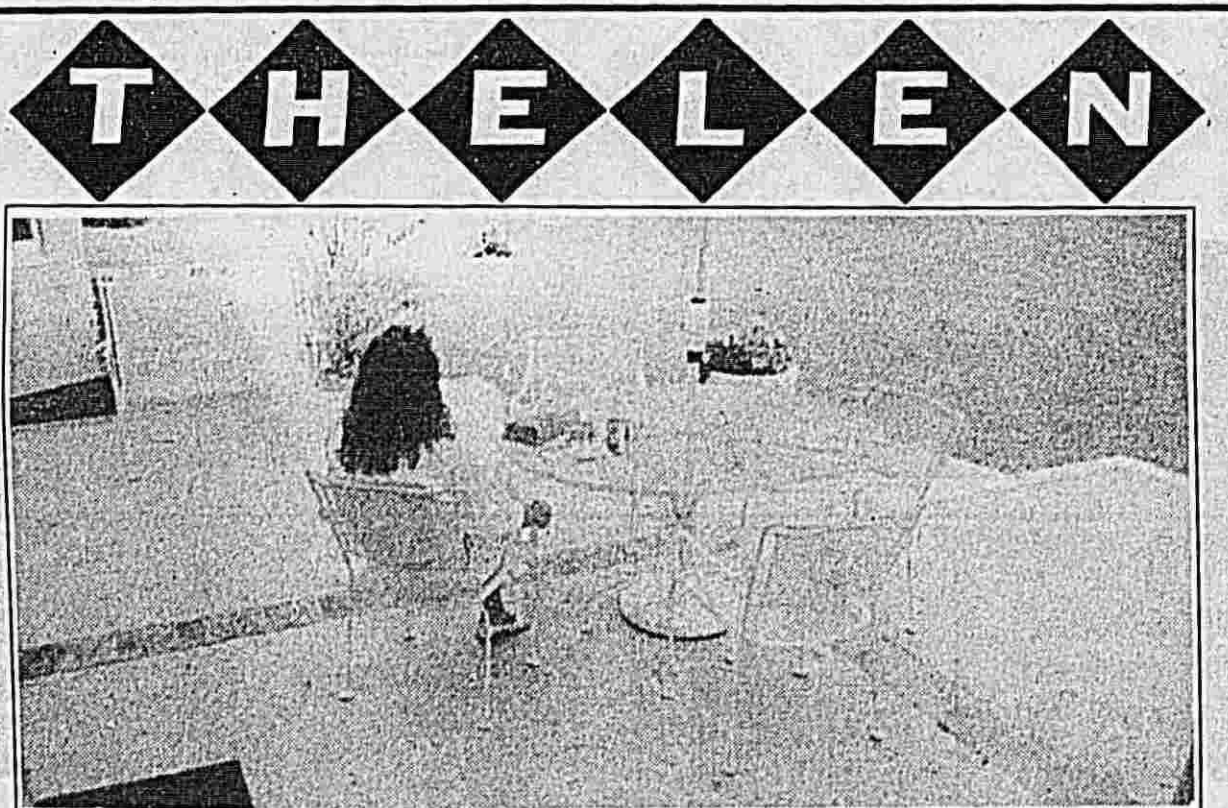

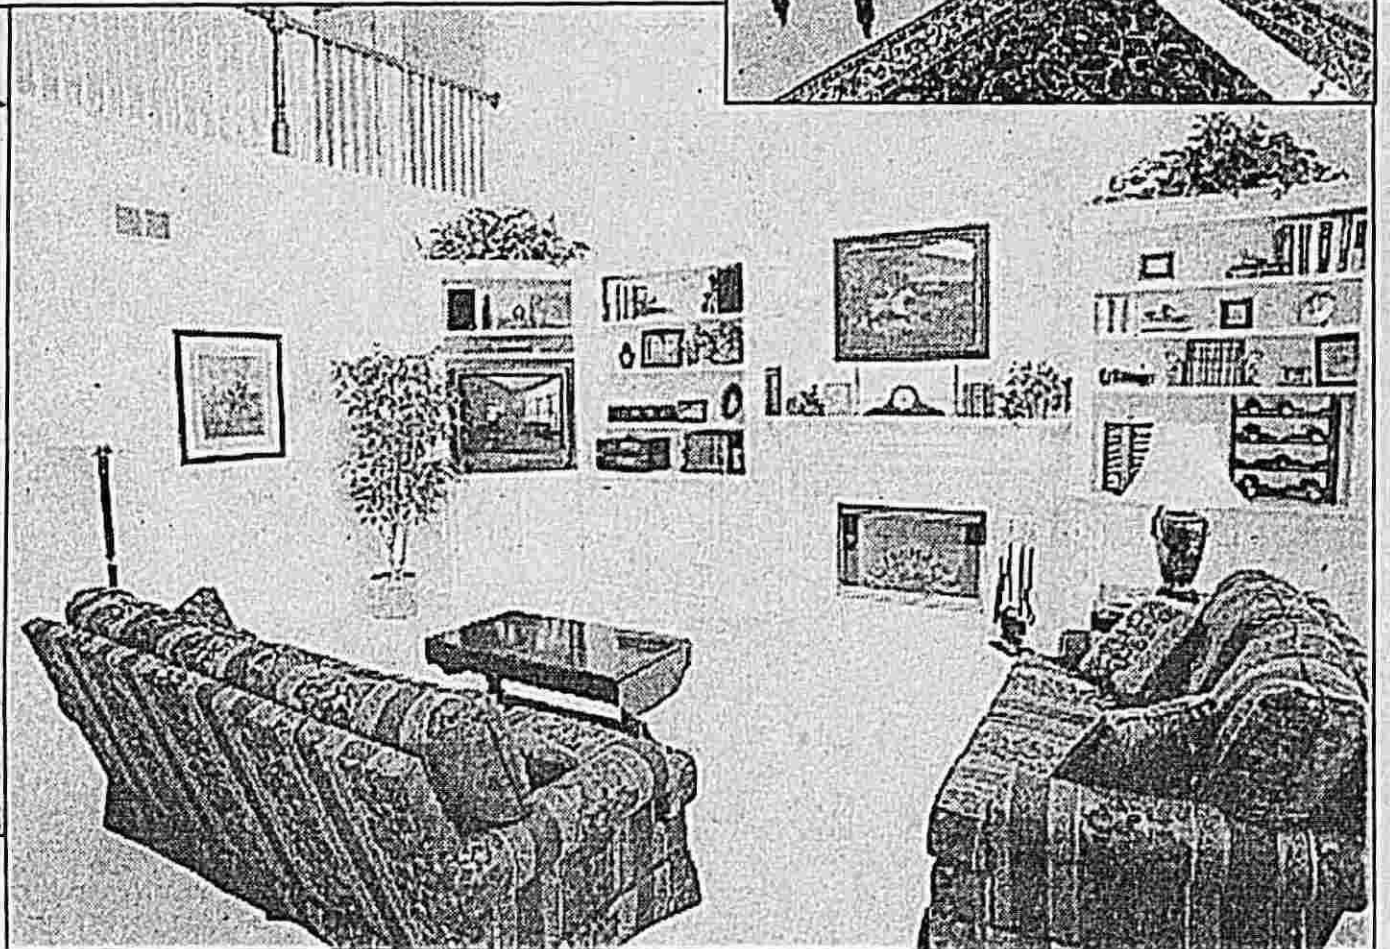

A guest room accommodates the couple's parents who often visit from out-of-state and the extra bedroom is eagerly anticipating the arrival of the couple's second child next spring.

The Meegans have lived in Grayslake for just over a year and Jill says so far they have been very pleased with the area.

"We've made a lot of great friends here," said Meegan.

Here's question to ask for home equity loan

One of the hottest ways of raising money for several years for consumers is to use home equity lines of credit for major expenses ranging from home improvement project to children's tuition.

Equity in your home is an important financial asset that should be used carefully.

Understand the risks, benefits and costs before tapping your home's equity. You'll never be sorry asking questions before making a decision.

"It's critical that consumers who choose to use their home equity be able to select repayment and interest rate options that work best for their needs, and to use their equity in smart ways," said Carol Glade, executive director of the National Coalition for Consumer Education. Demand for home equity loans has steadily increased since 1986, when Congress phased out the tax deduction for interest on consumer debt but kept the deduction in place for mortgage-based loans.

A consumer group calculated that the lower interest rates and tax deductibility features of home equity loans can reduce the total cost of a typical American household's debt nearly 40 percent.

"The problem is that many consumers tap the equity in their homes to pay for products and services over extended periods of time. If they're not careful, they risk losing their equity completely if they cannot pay off the loan or the principal accrues to a point where it becomes unmanageable," said Glade.

Glade also noted that some financial institutions offer teaser rates that only last for short periods of time, and up-front or annual fees that the consumer only learns about in applying for the loan.

Do a side-by-side comparison of competing products that reviews:

- interest rates
- APR
- index used
- interest rate cap (including how often can the mortgage interest rate change and how high it can go each time)
- loan term options
- minimum payment
- minimum draw on credit line
- time to approve loan

Watch for "teaser" rates

• Know how long any discount on rates will last, and what the discounts will really mean to your bottom line. Teaser rates often lure customers to home equity products that are not as economical as others in the long term.

In addition to comparing interest rates, compare interest costs

• Consider interest costs, as well as interest rates. Many people don't realize that special fees charged up from or on an annual basis can greatly increase their interest cost.

Some common types of fees you should inquire about include: annual fees, application fees, points and closing costs.

Find a lender that has employees who understand their home equity offers.

• A home equity loan is a major financial transaction. If the people you are talking with don't seem to understand their home equity product, find another institution.

Editor's note: For more information contact the National Coalition for Consumer Education at (201)377-8987.

Del Re takes reins as Lake County Sheriff

RHONDA HETRICK BURKE
Editor in Chief

Gary Del Re pledges to continue moving Lake County forward in the field of law enforcement and emphasis community policing and a regional approach to crime solving as Lake County's new sheriff.

There was no visible opposition to the appointment of Del Re, in fact county board chairman Bob Depke said he had received a letter signed by members of the sheriff's department urging him to appoint Del Re the successor to Sheriff Clint Grinnell. Grinnell retired due to health reasons, Oct. 8. Del Re had been Grinnell's under sheriff. He was unanimously approved by the county board.

"This is the luckiest day of my life,"

Del Re told members of the county board after he was sworn in.

Del Re also had much praise for the retiring Grinnell. "The sheriff has been most gracious in sharing his respect and wisdom with me," Del Re said. "I value his friendship a great deal and hope this afford him the opportunity to spend quality time with his wife, children and grandchildren. He has 41 years of law enforcement experience and is a very kind man. I'll miss him a great deal."

Del Re says he is looking forward to the opportunity to serve Lake County as sheriff and will begin a through search for an under sheriff.

"I would like to interview several people and evaluate their qualifications," he said. "The person I select will have similar philosophies to mine with similar strategies." Del Re said will take his time in appointing an under sheriff to ensure he gets the best candidate possible for the department.

The new sheriff say he'll have two key issues to his administration— community policing and the continuation of a regional approach to crime solving.

"We've been successful in a number of areas with a regional approach including the gang task force and auto theft," Del Re said. "I am also a strong advocate of community policing. I want to make sure people you live and work in Lake County have the highest level of service from their sheriff's department."

Del Re served 21 years on the Buffalo Grove police force before joining the sheriff's office as undersheriff in 1994. He has been the commander of the Lake County Major Crimes Task Force since its formation in February of 1991.

Debate rages over town ratings

CLAUDIA M. LENART
Regional Editor

Lake County residents believe their towns are some of the best towns to call home. But according to a "Chicago" magazine survey, most Lakeland area towns fell behind towns like Melrose Park, Des Plaines and Niles. (See Page A1 for chart.)

Some area officials and residents are making an argument against the criteria the magazine considered desirable. The magazine based its finding on five categories — health and safety, schools, housing, travel/transportation and leisure. Villages were awarded points for factors such as fire response time, low crime rate, student test scores, housing appreciation, park amenities, public transportation, etc. The villages were then compared to other villages within the same housing price range.

Towns get more points for having school districts with higher per student spending and they get more points if they are closer to Chicago, traits many area residents wouldn't consider desirable.

But a stronger argument against the magazine's rankings is in the validity of the data itself. Lakeland Newspapers found numerous areas where the numbers don't add up.

One of the first errors to catch Lakeland Newspapers attention concerned libraries. According to Chicago magazine, Lake Villa residents have the highest number of books per resident, 30.4, than any other town in the metropolitan area. However, Lindenhurst residents don't have any books and therefore no library system.

Barbara Elmore, Lake Villa District Library director, chuckled at the Chicago magazine results, since the library serves all of unincorporated Lake Villa township, and the villages of Lindenhurst and Lake Villa.

"They failed to make a distinction between district libraries and municipal libraries. That's totally wrong," said Elmore.

Apparently, Chicago magazine divided the number of library items by the number of residents living in the village of Lake Villa. A more accurate number of library items per resident for Lake Villa area residents would be five items per resident, said Elmore.

Elmore further stated that the number of

Twp. salaries under scrutiny as new rates set

STAFF REPORT

The salaries of township officials are currently undergoing intense scrutiny as township boards vote on pay rates which will be effective for those elected in the spring 1997 election.

According to state legislation, each township has to set salaries for the following term six months prior to the election, giving them an early November deadline.

While some Lake County Township have already addressed the issue, others will be voting on the next two weeks on the matter.

Warren Township has led the way by proposing slashing its salaries saying the money could better serve the township in the general assistance fund.

"It's pretty serious. We have to cut back in other items while trying to maintain the same quality service," Trustee David Brown said.

Warren Township Supervisor Robert Depke has proposed reducing salaries by as much as $27,000 annually for the supervisor.

A vote will be called Oct. 14 or 28. Grant Twp. officials voted to freeze their salaries for the next four years at their Oct. 1 board meeting. They also cited a need to keep funds available for other uses such as general See TOWNSHIP page C3

AT A GLANCE

Regulations for beer set

LAKE ZURICH—A new ordinance has paved the way for the home delivery of beer and wine in the Village of Lake Zurich.

Trustees unanimously approved a set of regulations all companies and businesses will have to follow, whether they be from Lake Zurich or from other communities making deliveries within the village. Deliveries of alcohol will only be allowed when groceries are also delivered, and the delivery of alcohol will only be made if an adult age 21 years old or older is present at the home.

This was a stipulation added by Trustee John G. Tolomei, which was supported by the board.

The ordinance goes on to state that deliveries will only be allowed by drivers 18 years or older.

Businesses that deliver alcohol will have to verify through signatures on file that deliveries of alcohol are being made by an adult family member. Any firms failing to comply will be subject to fines. —by SPENCER SCHEIN

Six Flags 'Drop Ride' gains nod

GURNEE—Guests at Six Flags Great America may be getting a sinking feeling next spring.

And enjoying every second of it.

Gurnee trustees approved the variations needed for the "Giant Drop Ride", the newest attraction for the 21-year-old theme park.

"One of the reasons we have been successful over the years is offering new attractions each year. It is critical to our long term success," James Wintrobe, president of Six Flags Great America, said.

He noted this year's improvement was Southwest Territories. Further improvements are planned in that area of the park in the coming years.

The "Giant Drop Ride" will be 600 feet from the property line at Washington Street. The ride, starting at 227 feet high, will include a 150-foot drop, followed by electromagnetic brakes used to bring the ride to its conclusion. Some 24 people may use the ride at the same time.

Park officials needed a variance due to the 125 foot height requirement for theme park attractions. That regulation was put in place in 1980.

"This is only the second time we have asked for this in the last 16 years. It is not something we take lightly," he said.

The ride would be similar to one in Santa Clara, Calif. Wintrobe said park officials visited with operators and engineers, who were "very pleased" with the ride, opened this spring. —by STEVE PETERSON

Corner drawing businesses

LAKE VILLA—The intersection of Routes 132 and 83 is drawing commercial interest since the Lake Villa Metra station opened in August. Village officials say there are several contracts pending. Also, the developer of the Lake Villa Plaza indicated he has received much interest and inquiries since the station was opened. Plaza Owner Ed Kidera said he hopes the train station is the balancing factor that tips the scales to commercial interest to fill the remaining space at the Plaza. Condell officials confirm they will buy the southwest corner of the intersection but haven't decided on what type of facility will be located there. —by ALEC JUNG

Department awaits new chief

LIBERTYVILLE—The village has narrowed its search for a new police chief to eight potential candidates among a field of 126.

Applications came from "a lot of well-qualified people," said Village Administrator Kevin Bowens, in all areas of the country. The final eight will be interviewed, then the list will be further narrowed. A smaller group will be chosen for a second interview with the village board. A final decision is expected by the end of the month.

One of those under consideration is Lt. Brian Budy, a 19-year veteran who lives in the village and is currently serving as acting chief. —by SUZIE REED

Car is incentive and reward

GRAYSLAKE—A program which has been successful at Grant and Wauconda High Schools has debuted at Grayslake Community High School. In the spring a lucky senior will have their name drawn and be awarded new set of wheels.

School administrators, Gail Vitols of Rockenbach Chevrolet and Harlan Dam, public affairs director for Commonwealth Edison and project organizer, gathered at the school to announce the Senior Used Car Giveaway Program for the Class of 1997. The car with an approximate value of $5,000 will be donated by Rockenbach Chevrolet of Grayslake.

Under the program a senior with a "B" average for the first three quarters, no un-excused absences, co-curricular/extracurricular activity participation and no discipline referrals is eligible to win the car. They may sell it if they already own a vehicle.

"...Forty-nine of 189 (students) at Grant qualified the first year. They saw an increase in the GPA, diminished absenteeism, disciplinary action diminished, it did everything we wanted. We couldn't ask for anything more," Dam said.

Superintendent Ray Novak said out of 280 students around 100 are eligible for the giveaway at Grayslake. —by ELIZABETH EAKEN

QUOTE OF THE WEEK

'This is the luckiest day of my life. I will work hard to do my best and to ensure the people who live and work in Lake County are satisfied with our level of service.'

— Gary Del Re,
Lake County Sheriff

School plans second campus

ANTIOCH—The high school board agreed to pursue a two-campus format in the long term future. The timing is yet to be determined. The board decided to continue upgrading the existing high school for a 21st Century education, according to Dr. Dennis Hockney, superintendent. Hockney said members of the Antioch, Lake Villa and Lindenhurst areas will be involved in the process as will teachers, administrators, parents and students. A plan will be formulated to ensure there is plenty of community input. "This is a community decision not a school board decision," Hockney said. —by ALEC JUNG

Youths damage cars, nabbed

ROUND LAKE—Police put a stop to any further damage from youths who had allegedly been messing with vehicles at a commuter parking lot.

On Tuesday, Round Lake Police Chief Joseph Trkovsky and a patrolman, Officer Mike Kemmerer snared three boys at the Route 134/Cedar Lake Road station after the kids came back to the scene of the crime.

On Monday five cars had been damaged at the site, including a broken mini-van window and a torn convertible top.

"It was like someone was venting," said Dave Dusenberry of Round Lake. His wife had parked her car at the station like she does each weekday while en route to her job via the Metra train.

When she got off the train Monday afternoon to go home, she realized her van had been hampered with.

Dusenberry said his wife had parked in a secluded area at the end of the lot near some trees.

"Apparently there were rocks thrown through the glass door," he explained.

While he had the window repaired already, there is still damage to the door, said Dusenberry.

Chief Trkovsky explained there was close to $3,000 total damage to the vehicles. The juveniles were turned over to their parents and charged with criminal damage to property. —by TINA LYNN SWIECH

Religious war developing

LINCOLNSHIRE—A religious schism has developed and formed at Lake County's oldest church as literally half the members of at Washburn Congregational Church in Lincolnshire have chosen one of two factions within their tiny church.

The schism has developed between mostly dissident long-timers who oppose the current pastor and newer members of the church who support the current pastor. "This whole thing is about control.

Some members of the church feel threatened, and everything that has happened is a symptom of some people losing control," said Pastor Art Stevens III.

Not only do dissidents disprove of Stevens ideas, theology and budget policies, they have hired attorney Joe Salvi to find a loophole in the church's constitution to oust the pastor. They question whether Stevens was officially ordained.

In the meantime, the dissidents have evicted Stevens from the church parsonage, ended Sunday services, changed the locks to the church doors, redirected the church phone number to a member's home, and redirected church mail to a member's home. —by KEVIN HANRAHAN

Company withdraws proposal

WAUCONDA—A communications company has withdrawn its plans to put a radio antenna in the Village of Wauconda.

Wauconda trustees accepted the move by Nextel Communications of Itasca and officially removed the petition from the board docket at its last board meeting.

Nextel representatives wanted to place a 199-foot antenna on a small area of village owned land at the corner of Route 176 and Larkdale Row, adjacent to Larkdale subdivision.

"The citizens made it clear that they did not want this to be developed on their property," said Michael B. Stern, Nextel zoning manager.

"We are a company that is sensitive to that type of input, and if the citizens do not want it, that is what we are going to do," Stern said.

Now that the Wauconda proposal has fallen through, the Itasca-based company has moved on to another site within the same general vicinity. Stern would not reveal its location. —by SPENCER SCHEIN

Developer negotiates lease

MUNDELEIN—Bargain hunters may have a new destination if plans for a liquidation store go through in Mundelein. According to Lee Cherney director of real estate for Kin Properties who purchased the property and has been trying to market it, Schnoll and Company hopes to rent out the 84,000-square-foot space to permanent vendors who sell close-out merchandise.

Additional plans include a "French Market" on weekends with up to 150 small vendors offering antiques and collectibles. If the building is filled, Delray Farms Inc. plans to construct a retail produce store on an outlot. The combination of ideas is expected to bring an increase in traffic to the center, located at the crossroads of Rte. 45, 60 and 83. —by SUZIE REED

Township

assistance.

Antioch Twp. is also discussing a freeze of salaries and was to meet Oct. 10 to vote on the measure.

Lake Villa Twp. trustees have split on the issue of pay freezes for their officials. Township trustees Joe Hamm, Carolyn Siebert and Michelle Wolf favored an increase for the assessor's salaries noting the increased work load for the office due to growth in the housing market. Pay was frozen for the clerk, trustees and highway commissioner.

"We compared the pay of all elected officials and established a baseline for all other townships," said Lake Villa Twp. Supervisor Sue Hanson. "Based on that information, I thought we should have frozen all salaries."

Avon Twp. approved minimal increases for its officials averaging 3 percent annually. Trustee salaries, however, increased from $1,800 annually to $2,100 annually. "For the trustees there was no change in the last five years," Supervisor Russ Christian said.

Ela Twp. was expected to approve minimal increases, Oct. 10 for salary increases ranging from 2.9 to 4.3 percent.

Cuba Twp. is scheduled to vote Oct. 17 for minimal increases and Wauconda Twp. will meet Oct. 15 to consider moderate increases.

Pay for Wauconda Township officials is amongst the lowest in the county. Supervisor James Keagle said he was going to recommend modest increases saying, "there is no reason to try to catch up with other townships."

Libertyville Twp. approved modest increases Sept. 23. While Fremont Twp. is expected to also approve a very modest increase next week.

State Senator and Vernon

Twp. Supervisor Bill Peterson says Vernon trustees have not discussed salary increases yet and are watching to see what other townships do. Peterson's proposed the legislation which requires the salaries to be set six months prior to the election.

Peterson noted Vernon Twp. officials are among the highest paid in Lake County but the township is also the second largest in the county with the highest assessed valuation. The township

School financing reform at brink

Almost lost in campaign posturing and election year oratory is the commitment of House Speaker Lee Daniels to "review and amend school funding totally" in 1997. Both Daniels and Senate President James "Pate" Philip have vowed to take up the issue of Illinois school funding—or lack of it—after the Nov. 5 election.

The pledge from the state's two most powerful legislative leaders has been drowned out in the barrage of anti-Springfield rhetoric emitted by teacher unionists and frustrated, but well meaning, parents. No one is arguing that Illinois' school funding system doesn't need fixing, yet the braying continues from the teachers' unions and their minions.

House Majority Leader Bob Churchill (R-Lake Villa) did his level best to inject some reality a few weeks ago at Round Lake at a meeting billed as a town meeting on school funding to counteract bellocose unionists and parents primed for battle. Churchill pointed out that the General Assembly has made a significant start on funding reform, first identifying Chicago as the "worst school system in Illinois" and then adroitly placing responsibility with one person—Mayor Daley.

Churchill and two other Lake County legislators, State Sens. Adeline Geo-Karis (R-Zion) and William Peterson (R-Buffalo Grove) were pelted with charges ranging from "devaluing children" to playing favoritism with richer districts like Lake Forest and Libertyville. The trio of lawmakers is well acquainted with union barbs and catcalls so they shrugged off the negativism.

Only two speakers at the meeting added anything substantive. The Rev. Lisle J. Kauffman suggested that political leaders "look for new ways" of funding schools. A businessman, Jerry King, offered three points along the lines of what Rev. Kauffman was talking about and what State Rep. Churchill might have had in mind:

1. Start holding teachers to professional standards.
2. Establish a state pool of money—an "integrity" account—to provide financial help for poor districts with mushrooming enrollments like the Round Lake Unit Dist. (There are over 400 school districts in Illinois in serious financial trouble).
3. Link school funding to outcome testing.

Mr. King's suggestions aren't a bad start for the kind of innovative thinking needed to erase the gross inequities existing in the current system that rests so heavily on taxation of real estate. The state's portion for public schools is at an all-time low.

Now that the big hurdle imposed by the incestuous relationship between the Democratic party and the Chicago Teachers' Union has been surmounted, we think Republican leaders Philip and Daniels should be given a chance to deliver.

We simply refuse to believe that, as one speaker at the town meeting put it, legislators are anti-education and "value children so little." Let's take Philip and Daniels at their word that the issue of school funding will be tackled. The job can be done.

Durbin found lacking

Editor:

On Nov. 1, 1995 Democratic Congressman Dick Durbin voted in favor of government sanctioned homosexual marriages. On the same day Nov. 1 1995 Dick Durbin voted in favor of the Partial-Birth Abortion, the abortion technique that aborts a late term baby in the very process of being born. On March 24, 1994 Dick Durbin voted against Voluntary School Prayer in our public schools. And on June 21, 1990 Dick Durbin voted against a measure that would make it against the law to burn or trample the American flag. Dick Durbin voted against the measure to protect the very flag that generations of Americans have sacrificed to preserve and protect.

The Democratic Party no longer stands for the values that were instilled in me as a child. I did not leave the Democratic Party, it left me.

Neal honest, dedicated

Editor:

My husband, the late Glenn Miller, worked with Bob Neal for many years and always respected Bob for his dedication and quality of service to the Republican party and as a member of the County Board. Bob is a straight forward, honest individual who will make the perfect leader to follow in Frank Nustra's footsteps.

I am proud to be included among the many people who have known Bob through the years and support his candidacy for Lake County Recorder of Deeds wholeheartedly. His loyalty, his leadership and his positive attitudes towards people will benefit all the residents in Lake County.

Neal the only choice

Editor:

Robert P. Neal is the right individual to step into the role of Recorder of Deeds. He has the business skills, the government know how, the caring of people quality which is so important in today's business world and the leadership to put it all together for the betterment of service to the people of Lake County.

I am proud to be known as a friend of Bob Neal's. When I read the negative comments from those individuals who used to be a power on the County Board but lost their seats after many years I can only say, "Shame on you -- your objection to Bob Neal is from bitterness on your part -- not because of his incapacities -- because he has none. You have fed your wounded egos by vindictiveness rather than reap the joy that comes from knowing you did your best. It has lessened the memory of your longevity of service in Lake County."

Gash's independence vexes political pros

BILL SCHROEDER
Publisher

Democratic bosses can't figure her out and Republican leaders look upon her as an enigma.

Only the voters in the 60th Dist. who have sent State Rep. Lauren Beth Gash to Springfield for two terms with winging pluralities appear to realize what the fiery North Shore lawmaker is all about.

That suits the petite, perky, peppy mother of two pre-teens just fine. "I can't be typed. I like that," remarks Gash with a knowing smile.

The independent Democrat began confounding professional politicians four years ago when she came out of nowhere to win a seat GOP leaders counted on for a Lake County sweep. Gash, a non-practicing lawyer like her husband who is employed as the vice president of a Chicago engineering firm, was such a political unknown Democrats slated her after the primary just to offer opposition to the Republican nominee.

"I was just a mom, but I understood the issues and I knew the voters of my district. And I walked and worked, and how did I walk and work," recalls Gash of her surprise 1992 victory over a bachelor businessman espousing anti-abortion conservatism.

Gash downplays her original victory to win a General Assembly seat, explaining that the district possesses a "unique character" of moderate to liberal voters. "I stay with my voters," is the way Gash puts it, adding that the 60th voted heavily for President Clinton and U.S. Sen. Carol Moseley-Braun four years ago.

That's why Lake County GOP leaders, bent on making the Springfield delegation all Republican, are wasting their time, besides making themselves look silly with a vicious, misleading campaign being conducted by her opponent, Gash points out.

Gash is proud of pro-business votes that won her a 100 percent rating from the Illinois Chamber of Commerce and the fact that she is often looked upon as a thorn in the side of House Minority Leader Michael Madigan.

In a customary upbeat style bordering on brashness, Gash asks a question and makes a statement in the same breath. "How can you get better than 100 percent? I enjoy being a thorn in Madigan's side."

Besides being in tune with the needs and wants of 60th Dist. voters, Gash puts her air of confidence on hold as she explains that her work on environmental, education and women's issues are the basis of her legislative record and the areas that contribute to her success.

Without a trace of bitterness, Gash explains matter-of-factly that Republican leaders "stole" her maternity bill requiring a 48 hour hospital stay for new mothers and made it a GOP headliner. "I understand politics. That's the way it's done. The Democrats used to do it all the time when they were in control of the House." The important thing, Gash emphasizes with no undue modesty, is that the law was passed. Women have been protected.

Her suburban background and service as a "PTA mom" convinced her that reforming the Chicago public school system to pave the way for needed school funding reform was the right thing to do, much to the chagrin of Democratic leadership and the Chicago Teachers' Union.

Gash said she enjoyed the label bestowed on her by a highly respected downstate political columnist of being a "New Democrat," one of three such "creatures" in the House. With mock surprise, Gash says she wonders what a New Democrat is? If it means voting independently, keeping in mind the best interests of district electors, then the label is OK.

Offering an overall view of Illinois politics, Gash says "there's too much partisanship. Every issue is too partisan." Now, what kind of observation is that in a big two-party state? Inigmatic? Tough to pigeon-hole?

Spoken like an independent. That's Lauren Beth Gash talking. The "Mystery Woman" of Illinois politics.

Twp. officials rock at annual installation dinner

Party Lines, Lakeland Newspapers' column of political commentary, is prepared from staff reports.

The Chicago Car Exchange provided a relaxed, albeit noisy setting, for the annual township officials and installation dinner. Visitors touched the "batmobile" and reminisce about a time when they wore saddle shoes and poodle skirts on a daily basis instead of for special occasions.

Deerfield Twp. served as hosts for the event. Supervisor Bob Moroney felt a more, relaxed atmosphere was in order for the annual meeting.

Officers for the year include: president Bill Donnan of Ela Twp., vice-president Claudette Skvarce of Antioch; Rec-secretary Faith Sage of Libertyville Twp.; Cor-secretary Barb Coppel, Deerfield Twp. and Treasurer Sue Hanson of Lake Villa Twp.

Insightful politics at Barat—Two of Illinois' most renowned public servants, U.S. Senator Paul Simon and Jeanne Hurley Simon, chair of the United States Commission on Libraries and Information Services, will share insights and reflect on their lives in politics during an upcoming presentation at Barat College. The Simons' will present "Politics in the 90s: An Inside Perspective, Oct. 13 at 3 p.m. at Barat campus in Lake Forest. For more information call 234-3000, ext. 398.

Fremont Twp. Trustee Tony Titus and his wife, Debbie Titus, dressed the '50s theme and rock the night away.

Mismatch—At the same time developer Steve Fennell was crying poor mouth before village planners over a density question, a national business magazine issued the report that two of his bosses are ranked among the world's richest citizens.

Fennell is president of Penguin Development, an arm of the famous Pritzker family which has extensive land holding in west Lake County. Penguin is in the approval process to launch an 1,800 home development in the Village of Round Lake. Fennell said low density would hurt company profits.

Backlash—Refuted Republican charges that Illinois Senate candidate Terry Link welched on child support payments are causing a backlash in the tight 30th District Senate race between Link and Republican House freshman Tom Lachner.

The North Shore district running from Waukegan to Highland Park and including parts of Libertyville and Vernon Township is expected to turn out a strong Democratic vote for Link, who also is Democratic county chairman. Now, Republican moderates who are offended by the party blast against Link, are looking at Lachner's foe in a different light, keen-eyed political watchers report. The accusation, denied by both Link and his former wife, is serving to tighten the race, observers say.

See Bob run—Depke watchers are conducting a contest on the reason behind Supervisor Bob Depke's recommendation to slice salaries of Warren Township elected officers beginning with the 1997 election, including a drastic cut to $30,000 for the supervisor. Here are the choices:

1. Bitterness over the primary defeat for re-election to the county board.
2. Freeze out potential opponents of re-election as supervisor.

3. Set stage to hand pick successor for mid-term resignation.

4. Reduce expenses to bolster the general assistance fund (as was stated publicly).

5. All of the above.

Heaven, help me—While Lake County's newly-appointed sheriff, Gary Del Re was shopping at Walgreen's in Mundelein last Saturday, he was introduced to Father James Lyons. The former pastor of St. Peter's Church in Volo who was instrumental in getting the little village incorporated four years ago, asked Del Re for a business card. Patting down his casual shirt pockets, the new sheriff said he didn't have any. "I wish you did, because you never know when I'll need you," said the priest. Del Re quipped, "Father, I think I'm gonna need you a whole lot more than you'll need me!"

Can they do campaign posters?—MainStreet Libertyville did a brisk business selling raffle tickets at the Oktoberfest street dance. Second prize, a portrait from Studio West, went to a fellow who will certainly appreciate it—GOP Recorder of Deeds candidate Bob Neal.

Overheard—Did you hear the presidential race between Bob Dole and President Bill Clinton is in a dead heat, according to the latest polls? Yeah, Dole is dead, and Clinton is in heat.

Enjoy.

Energizing remarks—Congressman Phil Crane (R-8th) will team up with well-known Democrat turned conservative Republican Edward Vrdolyak of Chicago for a campaign rally featuring special guest GOP Senate candidate Al Salvi. The event will be hosted by the Wauconda Republican Club and 8th Dist. Congressional Men and Women's Organization at Concorde Banquet Facility, Killdeer, Oct. 17 from 6:30-8:30 p.m. For more information, call Venita McConnell, 526-7851 or 438-5572.

Twisting 'partial birth'

Editor:

I for one will not give my God-given liberty away in my vote this November to a morally deficient president. A veto to a bill that banned later-term partial-birth abortion is immoral.

President Clinton vetoed the bill as he spoke out of the other side of his mouth of his "deep heart felt concern for women's health."

The majority of journalistic readers do not fathom what a partial birth abortion is. By definition it is repulsive and those of weak heart need not read further.

The fetus is pulled from the womb, feet first. The abortionist then cracks the baby's skull open. Then an instrument is applied to suck out the child's brain, causing the skull to collapse before the skull is expelled.

Former Surgeon General C. Everett Koop said, "In no way can I twist my mind to see that partial birth abortions are a medical necessity for the mother."

This is dedicated to my late loving wife Joan, who suffered through six miscarriages that were God's choice, not an abortionist's.

Bad precedent

Editor:

The Board of Liberty Prairie Conservancy unanimously opposes the proposed Yorkhouse Road Extension. The construction of this road will set a precedent for all natural areas. If they can build a road through the Wadsworth Demonstration Project, then they can build a road through areas like the Liberty Prairie Reserve, destroying places we treasure and are working hard to protect and restore.

We oppose the road because:

- It will cost $12 million dollars.
- It is not needed.
- It will damage the Wadsworth Wetlands Demonstration Project.

- It will reduce the aesthetic and recreational value of the forest preserve property along the Des Plaines River.

- It will mean that road that are needed cannot be built.
- It will go through the heart of a residential neighborhood.
- It will change traffic patterns in the area.

The Liberty Prairie Conservancy joins 15 other civic and environmental groups (including the Illinois Sierra Club, Lake Forest Openlands, Illinois Audubon Society and Openlands Project) in saying no to the Yorkhouse Road Extension.

Commendable record

Editor:

Lake County voters have a welcome opportunity to insure the on-going professional service and accountability they have come to expect from the Lake County Recorder of Deeds.

Democratic candidate Mary Ellen Vanderventer, has pledged to build on the long standing record of service of Frank Nustra and her record proves she is fully capable of doing the job! Her 10 years as Lake county elections administrator provide the county-wide administrative experience needed to complete the automation of the recorder's office. Her organizational skills and customer service orientation are well respected by all those who have worked with her.

Now, more than ever, we need qualified, experienced and balanced representation in our county government. Please, do us all a favor and vote for Mary Ellen Vanderventer for Lake County Recorder of Deeds on Nov. 5.

Madness in schools

Editor:

The suspension of a 6-year old boy for kissing a girl on the cheek is another example of social engineering and political correctness gone mad right in our public grade schools. Has anyone thought of the grief caused to this little boy and his parents because a hyper-sensitive principal has to make a federal case out of an awkward display of curiosity and affection between two first graders?

How can any first grader know anything about sexual harassment unless perhaps the school itself has already taught them the fine points of sexual intimacy. The sad part is this boy and his parents are trapped in this perverse system of sensitivity training/education unless they have the financial ability to pay out of their own pocket for schooling other than public.

Maybe it is time to make a federal case for real school choice either through vouchers or tax credits. Sadder yet is that five years down the road this same school district will be handing out free condoms along with full instruction on their use to this same first grade class.

Opposes mandates

Editor:

I am very happy to endorse the candidacy of Joel Gingiss, Republican candidate for House of Representatives in the 60th District. Mr. Gingiss will support the efforts to eliminate unfunded state mandated programs. Mandated state programs, which come without adequate funding, raise local taxes.

We work very hard to hold the line on village taxes, but sometimes we are faced with expenses dictated to us by the state without funding. Then we are forced to find the money at the local level to meet these mandates of the state. The current members of the state legislature did not pass the referendum resolution that would have given the voters of Illinois the opportunity to say that unfunded mandates should be unconstitutional. It is time to change the representation in the 60th District and have a representative who will work for the people.

Village of Buffalo Grove

Rating

way they did it doesn't address the quality of a library," said Elmore.

Other towns which the magazine says don't have libraries are Hawthorn Woods and Vernon Hills, while the residents of those villages are served by various library districts.

Chicago magazine made a gross error in tabulating the leisure score for the Round Lake area towns. While each of the three towns, Round Lake Beach, Round Lake and Round Lake Park showed the same rating for parks and libraries, the two variables, Round Lake's leisure score added up to 34, while the other two towns added to 24.

Chicago magazine contributing editor Dennis Rodkin, author of the survey, was 'horrified' to discover that the magazine erred. "The numbers were added up over and over again," said Rodkin.

Rodkin said while he's heard some argument over the methodology the magazine used to rank towns, he hadn't heard there were problems with the data.

"I've received tons of positive feedback," said Rodkin. He added that people are finding the survey useful in their home search.

Rodkin explained the methods for tabulating results were provided by the Institute for Metropolitan Affairs at Roosevelt University. He said he spent a year on the project with the assistance of magazine editors and interns. Most of the data was based on state figures.

However, an area where Chicago magazine made numerous errors was in assessing the schools. Chicago magazine didn't understand school district boundaries. According to Chicago magazine, Round Lake Beach, Round Lake Park and Round Lake all had the same numbers for school test scores, student per teacher ratio and amount of district spending per student. The magazine failed to take into account that not all students were in Round Lake school district 116. If they had factored in the Round Lake Beach students in Grayslake High School, and Lake Villa elementary districts, the numbers would have varied.

The high school numbers for Libertyville, Mundelein, and Vernon Hills don't add up.

According to Chicago Magazine, Libertyville and Mundelein have the exact same IGAP (Illinois Goals Assessment Program) score for 11th grade and the same amount of spending per student for high school students. Meanwhile, Vernon Hills which is half in Stevenson High School district and half in Libertyville, has a much lower IGAP score than Libertyville, according to the magazine.

Chicago magazine also failed to take into account the differing high school districts that Lake Villa and Lindenhurst residents go to. According to the magazine all Lake Villa and Lindenhurst residents are in the Antioch Community High School district, whereas local residents know that some of those students attend Grayslake Community High School.

Rodkin said the school research was based on the State Report Cards, however, the reports don't say the hometowns of students.

"I don't know how that happened," said Rodkin. "I apologize for the error."

In the magazine's research, Antioch High School was noted as the dim spot that sent those three towns to the bottom of the rating list. But a closer look at the numbers shows that Antioch High School had respectable test scores and student-per teacher ratio. The area where Antioch High School was lacking was in student per teacher spending.

"We're doing more with less money and we're getting penalized for that," noted Dr. Dennis Hockney, superintendent of Antioch High School. Hockney said Antioch High School tests above average against other schools statewide, while spending below average. While he believes the school could do more with more dollars, he says there is a point of diminishing returns.

Comparing Antioch to Bridgeview shows the weight in which school spending has in the tally. Antioch and Bridgeview had the same student per teacher ratio, 20. Antioch's 3rd grade scores were 11 points higher and 11th grade scores were 71 points higher. Antioch spending was slightly less in elementary schools; in high school, Antioch spending was nearly half ($5,851) of Bridgeview's ($10,361). Antioch's school rating was 17 and Bridgeview's was 25.

"One of the statistical problems when you have a score range that only goes up to 30 is that very small differences in raw data make large differences in scores," said Rodkin. "You get dinged more for varying from the norm. Antioch spending was far below the norm."

Rodkin did notice the irony of the situation and gave Dr. Hockney the opportunity to respond to Antioch's low education score in the Chicago magazine article.

"I think they need to come out and see what's going on here," said Hockney.

Grayslake High School Superintendent Ray Novak said he tried to figure out how Chicago magazine came up with their IGAP scores, but no matter which way he figured, his numbers came up differently.

The 1994/95 IGAP for 11th grade add up to 510 and the magazine charts Grayslake at 521.

Novak also noted he couldn't figure out why they would base their scores on 11th grade because that test is only based on science and social studies, whereas the 10th grade is based on reading, mathematics and writing.

Another dubious figure for Grayslake was health and safety. Grayslake's low rating of 23.5 in health and safety was brought down by a fire response time of 10 minutes.

"I have no idea where they got that information," said Grayslake Deputy Fire Chief Greg Formica. "We average between five to five and a half minutes."

Formica noted when they respond to mutual aid calls outside their district limits, to towns such as Lake Villa or Round Lake, that number may rise, but the response time isn't that high within the Grayslake Fire Protection District.

"They didn't get that information from us," said Formica.

Housing appreciation was a factor in the Chicago magazine survey. According to the magazine, Lake Villa was one of only four towns among 160 whose housing value depreciated in the last five years, along with south suburban towns, Phoenix, Harvey and Markham. The magazine said Lake Villa housing has depreciated 2 percent in the last five years. Lake Villa Township Assessor Kathleen Kane was out of town and could not comment on that suspicious figure.

Lake Villa Mayor Frank Loffredo thought the idea that village housing values have depreciated is ludicrous. He noted that residents have seen their taxes rise due to an increase in assessed valuation.

"If you could find three people in Lake Villa whose property values have gone down, I would really like to meet them," said Loffredo.

Even without the obvious errors in calculation, Lake County villages' ranking may not have changed much. Chicago magazine probably is not viewing what makes a town the best around the same way most Lake County residents would.

While Rodkin says he's "no stranger to the suburbs," he admits he and his colleagues are definitely Chicagoans with a city orientation.

"The magazine is called Chicago and the towns are ranked as they relate to Chicago," said Rodkin.

The survey tends to favor the more urban suburbs, being located close to Chicago is a plus according to the magazine. The magazine didn't factor in traits most Lake County residents say they have come here for — amenities such as open space, country atmosphere, lakes and community spirit.

Northern Illinois Gas files rate proposal

Northern Illinois Gas filed a performance-based rate plan with the Illinois Commerce Commission (Ill. C.C.) for gas supply costs. The filing is in response to an amendment to the Illinois Public Utilities Act which provides for programs consisting of alternatives to traditional cost of service regulation.

Currently, natural gas supply costs are passed on directly to the customer without mark-up.

Under the proposed program, Northern Illinois Gas will compare its total annual gas supply costs against a market-based benchmark, and any difference would be shared between Northern Illinois Gas and its customers.

"Historically, the price our customers have paid for gas supplies has been among the lowest in the nation," said Tom Fisher, chairman, president and CEO. "This program will help Northern Illinois Gas continue to compete effectively in an increasingly competitive energy market."

The company is requesting approval of its program by Jan. 1, 1997.

However, the Ill.C.C. has up to 11 months to decide the case.

Advantage Bank breaks ground for new location

Advantage Bank FSB broke ground for its new, full-service branch in Waukegan, to be located at 931 Green Bay Rd. The ground breaking was attended by various city officials, including Mayor William F. Durkin, members of Advantage Bank's Board of Directors and others involved with the completion of the new branch.

The branch will be relocating from a leased space at 3747 Grand Ave. to its new permanent location, a couple of miles northeast, sometime early in 1997. The new location marks a great commitment to the Lake County area. "We mean business when we build a bank to service a community. We're here to make it easy and convenient for our customers to do their banking," said Paul P. Gergen, president and chairman of the board of Advantage.

Advantage, established in 1902, currently has two other full-service locations in Lake County, in both Zion and North Chicago, and 15 full-service branches in all.

Deerfield native finishes 18-year-old project

Matt Coughlin had a job to complete—a job left unfinished for 18 years. "When I was 10 years old, my father gave me a paintbrush and told me to paint the house," the 28-year-old Coughlin said. "At the time I didn't know what I was doing, but now I have the chance to do it right."

Coughlin became the proprietor of a Certa ProPainters business in May of this year and currently serves Lake and Cook counties. Certa ProPainters is a professional full service residential and commercial painting service with 120 locations in the United States and 40 in Canada. He recently approached the new owners of his childhood home and offered them a service they could not refuse—a free paint job!

"My brother and I really want to do this and have the house looking great. I know I could do a great job on it," he said.

In the month of October, Coughlin and his brother, who also works for Coughlin's Certa ProPainters, delivered a new coat of paint to their childhood home.

"We'll take one of our crews with us because otherwise we would be there for a week. We'll pay them out of our pockets, but the customer won't owe us a dime," he said.

Coughlin was born and raised in Deerfield and graduated from Deerfield High School. He received a degree in finance from Western Illinois Univ. in 1990 and worked in the corporate world for two years. "I was working for a lending institution, but I felt I needed more of a challenge than the everyday 9 to 5 job could offer," he said.

With that sentiment in mind, Coughlin joined the Marines and traveled around the world, in particular to Somalia. "After being stationed in Somalia, it really made me appreciate the United States," he said. Coughlin took part in Operation Desert Shield and controlled aircraft flights during the pullout of United Nations forces.

In recognition of his service to his country, he was awarded a Navy Achievement Medal, and also learned valuable skills about leadership, handling pressure and organizing his time.

"I felt after all of the experience I received with the Marine Corps, running my own business would be my next challenge. I really wanted to be able to work for myself," he said.

Coughlin continues to hold his rank as a Lieutenant in the Reserves, but has the more pressing duty of running a business as well. He worked as a house-painter in college, so he feels comfortable with his field and is hoping to increase his workforce. "Right now, I'm really looking to build up my clientele. I go out on jobs and do the painting because I think that it is the best way to train my employees. I can teach them what I expect from them, and they can establish leadership by example," he said.

Since his business began in May, Coughlin has managed six full-time painters, goes out on jobs to work beside them, and does the estimates for his clients. He works seven days a week, 12 to 15 hours each day, but hopes to hire a full-time production manager next spring to take over some of the duties.

"Right now running the business is very time consuming, but hopefully at some point in the near future I'll be able to take a weekend off," Coughlin said with a laugh.

Coughlin was attracted to Certa ProPainters because he realized they filled a niche in their industry.

"I think it's a great idea for a business," Coughlin said. "There's really no other business like this. Certa ProPainters brings professionalism and quality to the painting industry, which is what it was lacking."

Though the hours are long, Coughlin loves working for himself. "Every day you learn something new. Every house is different and has different obstacles," he said.

"You are the boss, and your success is based on your abilities and your input. If you have the drive to succeed, you will be successful."

WBDC launches unique program for entrepreneurs

A unique program called Premier Fast Trac I, designed to help prospective business owners determine the potential of their business idea, will be launched in October by the Women's Business Development Center (WBDC), the Chicagoland Chamber of Commerce, the Ewing Marion Kauffman Foundation, and the Harris Chicago-Kenwood Branch.

The 11-session program will be held at two locations: The Chicagoland Chamber of Commerce, 1 IBM Plaza, 330 N. Wabash, Suite 2800, with classes held on Monday evenings from 6 to 9 p.m., beginning Monday, Oct. 21; and Harris Chicago-Kenwood Branch, 901 E. 47th St., with classes held on Tuesday evenings from 5:30 to 8:30 p.m., beginning Tuesday, Nov. 5.

The program will enable those considering launching a start-up in any industry to develop a feasibility plan—the groundwork needed to develop a sound business plan. Participants will learn how to assess personal and business goals, do market research, determine start-up costs and budget, various kinds of business arrangements, sales strategies, and financing options.

"We want to ensure that entrepreneurs are building the proper foundation for their businesses by assessing the fit between personal and business goals and ensuring adequate market demand," said Sara Shifrin, WBDC director of entrepreneurial services.

"Premier FastTrac helps redefine an initial business concept and determine if an idea will work before further time and money is spent, thereby lowering the risk involved in starting a business."

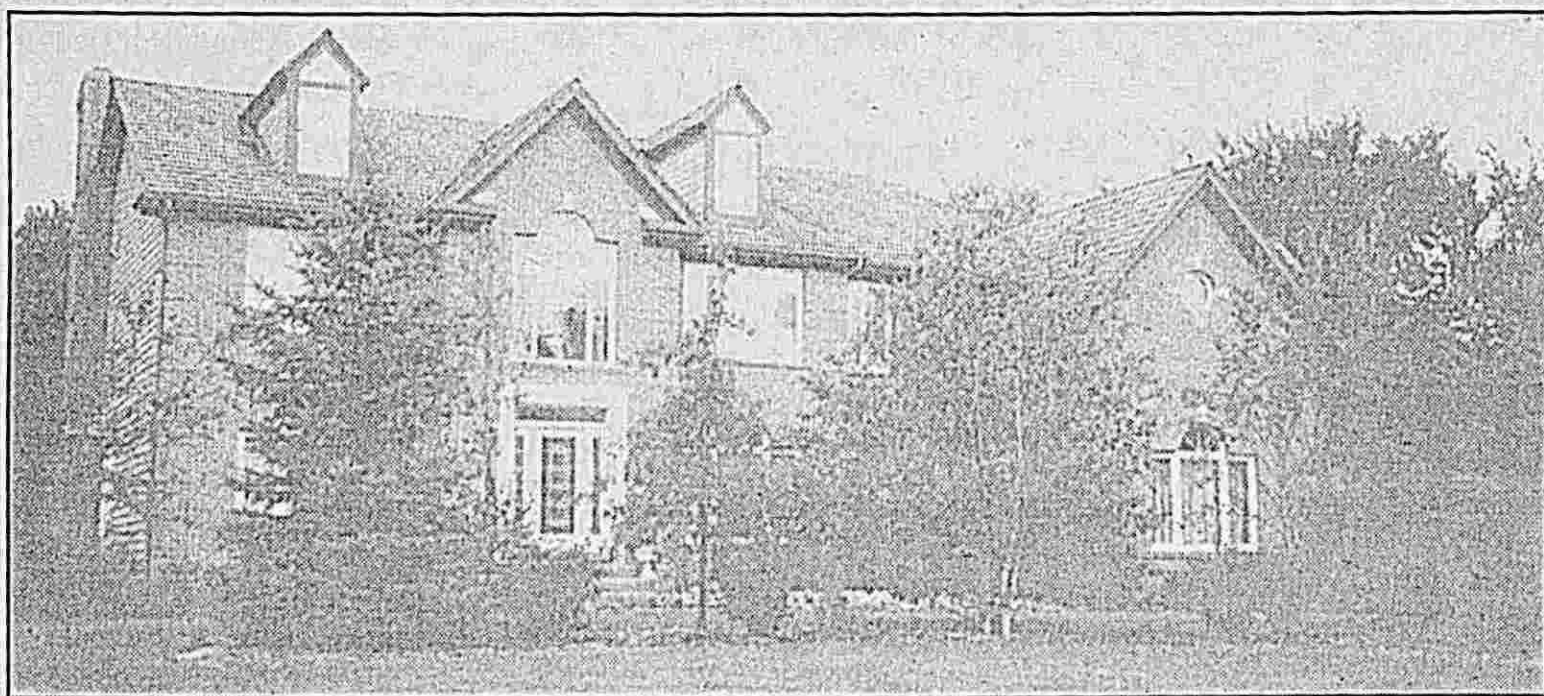

Sessions consist of personal business counseling, guest speaker presentations from successful entrepreneurs, networking opportunities, and workbook assignments. The program entitles participants to receive a business certificate and participate in a graduation ceremony in January.

The fee for the program is $350 and includes all materials and workbooks, scholarships may also be available.

To register or for more information, call the WBDC at (312)853-3477.

Historic office mansion, luxury homes up for auction

The colonial two-story single-family home, located at 22582 Linden Drive in Lake Barrington, will be offered at auction Saturday, Oct. 26.

Rick Levin and Associates, Inc., a Chicago-based real estate auction marketing firm, has announced it will conduct an auction of the historic Prairie House office mansion located near McCormick Place in Chicago, and three luxury single family homes located in Green Oaks, Inverness and Lake Barrington. The auction will take place on Saturday, Oct. 26 at the Sheraton Gateway Suites Hotel, 6501 N. Mannheim Rd., Rosemont.

Prairie House (aka Hamill House), located at 2126 S. Prairie Ave., Chicago, was built by Charles D. Hamill who, by 1875, was one of the most successful men on the Chicago Stock Exchange, and was later elected president of the Chicago Board of Trade.

"Mr. Hamill was one of the founders, along with Marshall Field, of the Academy of Fine Arts, which was incorporated in 1879," said Steven H. Baumann, executive vice president of Rick Levin and Associates, Inc., "A few years later, the Academy of Fine Arts became the Art Institute of Chicago," Baumann said.

Charles Hamill and Marshall Field were close friends indeed. Stories indicate that at Hamill's urging, Marshall Field moved to South Prairie Avenue. Since the Field House, which was located at 1905 S. Prairie Ave., was built in 1871, the Hamill House would most likely have been built in the 1860s.

Soon after Hamill's death in 1905, the house was sold to Edward Robbins who, in 1905, applied for a building permit to alter the facade of the house and reinforce the floors. The architectural firm responsible for the design of the new facade was the New York firm of Mann, MacNeille and Lindeberg. Mann, whose brother was a professor at the Univ. of Chicago, designed several row houses in Hyde Park for faculty members at the university.

The approximately 11,000 square foot Prairie House, originally priced at $650,000, has a suggested opening bid of $150,000. A open house is scheduled from 1 to 3 p.m. on Oct. 16.

Other properties in the auction include:

• 740 St. Mary's Road, Green Oaks (just east of Libertyville). A three story custom single family home with five bedrooms and five and one-half baths. This completely renovated home features a dramatic spiral staircase reaching to four levels, gourmet kitchen, library, great room, hardwood floors, skylights and an attached three-car garage. Originally priced to $1,600,000, the home has a suggested opening bid of $450,000. Open houses are scheduled for Oct. 13 and 19.

• 1980 Clover Dr., Inverness. A two-story brick and cedar single family home with four bedrooms and three baths. This Cape Cod style home features a gourmet kitchen with bleached custom oak cabinets and top-of-the-line appliances, formal dining room, hardwood floors throughout, skylight, Pella windows and doors, zoned HVAC and a newly paved circular drive. Originally priced to $575,000, the home has a suggested opening bid of $200,000. Open houses are scheduled from 1 to 3 p.m. on Oct. 13 and 19.

• 22582 Linden Drive, Lake Barrington. A colonial two-story single family home with four bedrooms and three and one-half baths. Features include a gourmet kitchen with Corian counter tops, master suite with master bath, hardwood floors throughout, nine foot ceilings, fireplace, skylights, bonus room and full basement. Originally priced to $565,000, the home has a suggested opening bid of $200,000. Open houses are scheduled from 1 to 3 p.m. on Oct. 12 and 20. Take Rte. 22 to Kelsey Road south one block to Linden Drive.

Mood of America found in political quotes

In a few short weeks we will once again enjoy one of the great media events of our time.

Millions of dollars will pour into advertising campaigns as folks try to convince us to make decisions that will only benefit them. I write about the 1996 political elections.

The media will spend hours and pages in covering every move the candidates make. I would not be at all surprised to even see coverage of the political potty stops this year. This would certainly make for some interesting sound bites.

Candidates will make promises they cannot keep. They will spend hours debating non-issues and they will propose elaborate solutions for problems they can never solve.

Then on Nov. 5, a minority of Americans will go to the poles to elect a president and send some new faces to congress.

The majority will complain regardless of the outcome. Four more years of whining will ensue.

I may sound a little cynical about the political process and I guess I am. However, I respect and dislike it at the same time. Our process may be the best in the world, but it isn't perfect and certainly could be improved.

The whole process is complex. It is a series of checks and balances with pendulum swings of power and philosophy.

At the same time the political process is sad and funny, invigorating and disgusting, serious and silly, frightening and comforting and inclusive and exclusive.

—Ask Don GARLITS—

Beware of squirrels storing their winter food in cars

Q. We own a 1987 Chevrolet with a 2.0-liter engine—the second one, I might add. I bought the car used with 70,000 miles. The original engine had a warped head and a cracked block due, I was told, to overheating. I was also told that this has been fairly common among Chevys 2.0 engines. Is this true? If so, why does the cooling fan automatically turn off with the car? My friend's Chrysler continues to cool for a time after the engine is shut off. Is there some way I can have my GM car set up to do the same? I would do this if it would help the engine last a little longer!—Ron W.

A. A good mechanic can reroute the cooling fan schematic to run any time the temperature of the engine reaches a certain point without the ignition switch being turned on. As your friend has observed, many vehicles are so equipped. I would recommend, though, that you be sure to get a sticker stating the fan may activate at any time, even when the engine is not running. This would prevent someone from getting his or her fingers cut by the fan should it engage during a service visit.

Q. I took my 1991 Toyota Corolla into the shop recently, after I noticed a terrible rumbling noise in the fan blower. When in was disassembled, the mechanics found a quart of acorns that had been stored there by squirrels! Luckily, there was no damage and they were able to simply clean it out. How can I prevent this from happening again this fall? No one I know seems to have any ideas how to repel the squirrels.—Mia A. Hawthorne

A. It would seem the squirrels like the tight compartments in these foreign cars. In one case I heard about, the squirrel filed its teeth in the spring on the wires under the hood. The owner purchased an electronic device that emits a clicking noise and seems to repel most animals, including dogs and cats. The installation of a 1/4-inch mesh screen across the "squirrel access" would allow air to flow through, but should prevent critters from getting in your engines!

Q. Let me share with you something that I have found on my 1978 GMC van. One day I noticed the oil gauge reading 0 pounds pressure when I started the engine. I immediately shut it off and checked the oil level, but it was OK. Then I thought the pressure switch may have gone bad, so I removed the lead wire to the switch and shorted the wire to ground, but I still got a reading on the gauge. To make a long story short, I decided to check the gauge on the dash. When I removed the bezel to gain access to the gauge, I noticed the oil gauge needle was positioned on the right side of the stop pin. How it jumped to the other side I may never find out. As I attempted to return the needle to the left side, the tip broke off, but it still stopped when it hit the pin and is still working and readable two years later!

However, the dash gas gauge fluctuates at about the same rate as the float on the tank gauge. When it is full it is OK, because the float is high and steady, but once it gets below half full it bobs like crazy. I know Chrysler had a voltage limited, but I cannot find reference to one in the GMC service manual. Perhaps the gauge has a built-in buffering circuit to compensate for this? Any ideas for me, Big Daddy?—Howard D.

A. I wish I did, Howard. Check with your GMC dealer for a schematic. Your assumption may be correct, but I would suggest the service department for the right answer. Thanks for sharing your "process of elimination" service job on the oil gauge. You have done something I find myself doing a lot with today's more complex equipment.

Editor's note: "Big Daddy" Don Garlits answers technical questions of general interest on automobiles, but cannot make personal replies. His answers are intended to point out possible solutions to problems and may not apply in every case. Send questions to Don Garlits, c/o Lakeland Newspapers, 30 S. Whitney St., Grayslake, IL 60030.

Harsh weather needn't deter driving pleasure

Record-breaking winter temperatures can leave you with enough car repairs to break your bank account. That's why it's not time to let simple, preventive car maintenance procedures fly south with the birds. Consider these tips for a smooth ride this winter.

Shocks and struts—Alternate freezing and thawing can produce hazardous driving conditions—such as potholes. Even the most precise drivers can barely escape a whole winter without a single damaged tire or broken spring, but sometimes the jolt from the one you couldn't dodge can be very expensive. The loss of a muffler and sometimes the pipes that go with it can be prevented by regularly inspecting the undercarriage. If you survive a pothole, let an expert do an alignment check to assess any damage that may have occurred to shock absorbers, struts and other suspension parts.

Tire—When outside temperatures begin to drop, tires should be checked at least once a month, since cold weather reduces your tires' inflation pressure. Driving underinflated tires causes tire tread to wear faster and unevenly, and it can reduce ride performance, affect vehicle handling and decrease your vehicle's fuel efficiency.

Another good habit to continue throughout the season is to check your tires for uneven wear patterns. Uneven wear may signal improper inflation pressure, misalignment, tire and wheel imbalance or suspension problems.

If your vehicle becomes stuck on ice, you should avoid spinning the tires, as the force created from this action can literally rip tires apart.

Brakes—Don't gamble with your brakes; they could save your life. Your braking system, probably the most critical safety system on your car, should be checked periodically this winter. It'll be like buying yourself some peace of mind!

Engine—A severe winter could mean millions of cars failing to start. Excessive exhaust emissions and a polluted atmosphere can dull a picturesque snowfall, and misfiring, knocking and pinging is never pretty. Before a "no-start" ruins your day, start out this fall with a well-tuned car.

Oil—Change your engine oil and filter every 3,000 miles (or as specified in your owner's manual) if you do lots of stop-and-go driving, carry heavy loads or drive long distances this fall and winter.

Belts and hoses—When one needs replacing, you're likely to find more in marginal condition. Rubber components under the hood exist in a hostile environment, surviving sub-zero temperatures in the winter.

Hoses circulate as much as 7,500 gallons of coolant per hour at up to 18 pounds of pressure—and warrant periodic attention. Failure to maintain your cooling system by flushing and refilling every 24 months with fresh antifreeze can cause freeze-up, overheating and rust and corrosion buildup.

Batteries—Batteries lose their charge over time, especially in cold weather, and cable connections can corrode. A certified technician can test the strength of your battery's charge.

Paint job—Don't ignore bumps, scrapes, scratches and dings this fall. As winter sub-zero freezes set in, the damage is likely to get worse as rusting sets in.

IT'S THE TALK OF THE TOWN

GET IT OFF YOUR CHEST (847) 223-8073

Lakeland

Lipservice is a phone-in column presented as a feature of Lakeland Newspapers. Lakeland Newspapers makes no claim to the authenticity of the statements. Lakeland Newspapers does not claim the content or the subject matter as fact, but as the personal opinion of the caller. Lakeland Newspapers reserves the right to edit copy or to refrain from printing a message. Call in at 223-8073 and leave your message 24-hours a day. Although the call is anonymous, please leave your village name.

Up to you

It's not up to Jim Pappas to get rid of the trustees who don't have an interest in the village, it's up to the voters.

Rude parents

My husband and I are amazed that people take their young babies under a year old into restaurants at 8 or 9 o'clock at night and they're screaming or banging silverware. Do they think people want to pay $40-$50 for a meal and hear their kid screaming? This is the height of rudeness!

Nothing wrong

I had a response to the person who called in about skate-boarders. I think it's dumb. Maybe they're disturbing the peace a little bit, but there's nothing to do in Grayslake. There's no bowling alley, arcade, etc. Do they want gangs or people doing drugs? What's wrong with rollerblading and skateboarding? It's athletic and they don't sit around and watch TV all day.

Time well spent

In response to the teacher in-service message, you don't think a think twice about going cross-country to woo clients while the work on your desks pile high, but when teachers take much-needed time for training and brainstorming to get new ideas to keep our students enthused, you complain. Teachers already spend more than eight hour days grading papers and planning lessons. They don't need to give up their after school and weekend time, too.

Get creative

Grant Township doesn't need a town hall, now getting close to costing $1 million. Look at all the "for sale" and vacant buildings in the area. Get creative. We need a business approach, not a political one.

Did you know?

I would like to know who was on the board of Antioch Township when our supervisor's salary was raised to over $51,000 a year. Plus he gets a truck, gas, and paid insurance. I don't think the people know about all that.

Won't lower taxes

People in Lake Zurich are in favor of commercial development because they think it's going to lower their taxes. If they look at Crystal Lake, it's not true. They've filled the town with franchises, but the schools are going in shifts. Lake Zurich is already overcrowded, I don't think we need any more developing.

Be intelligent

I'm calling to just say before you adopt any pet, be careful where you adopt it from and how much you're paying. If someone says they got their pet from a private breeder, give it some consideration. There's no such thing as a public breeder. The key word should be reputable breeder. Be careful of this. Ignorance is not bliss.

Fed up

The taxpayers of Fox Lake are fed up with the village board, the past village board and those before it. The time is now for the good citizens of Fox Lake to petition for the dissolution of the village status of Fox Lake and turn the fire department, maintenance and police over to the county. This way, board members won't be taking care of only themselves, like they've been doing. Then maybe we'll get something done.

Elect Ernie

He has heard the pleas of many people who've called in to Lipservice. He's aware of the environment and what's been going on in Lake and McHenry counties. He's been asked to run for office by both Democratic and Republican parties. The man we should have running for office is a man who cares about what's going on, a man who's made his own personal, in-depth investigations. That man is Ernie Schulz. He's the same man that did a wonderful documentary on the Chain O' Lakes.

How 'bout a photo?

The plan commission for Grant Township is doing a great job. Citizens at no pay in a little over a year have done more than paid politicians have to look at flooding and development in this area. Let's have a picture of those folks in the paper instead of the usual folks in Grant Township.

Shame, shame

I can't believe Lake County DOT officials are allowing steep driveways onto Wilson Rd. at Larkin. I'm also tired of dodging vehicles, including a moving van exiting Rainier Way onto Rollins. You should be ashamed of yourselves for signing off on these projects.

Expensive sign

I'm calling about the "Meadowgreen works to make outsiders green with envy" sign. Let's find out how much the president of the association board, paid for that fancy little thing outside his home 2-3 years ago. If I remember correctly, it was about $2,000.

We'll miss Star

I'm calling about the situation in Round Lake Park with Star Southworth. I'm sorry to see her go; I'm a resident and she's always been very helpful. I'm sad to see her leave.

Editor's Note: Southworth remains Village Clerk; she only resigned from being Village Collector.

Keep 'em away

I agree also with the comment on "Leash the cats." There's three big ones that come in my yard and sit by my bird feeders. They also use my yard as a sandbox. They're wearing collars, but why don't they put leashes on and keep them home?

What's the fuss?

I am calling about the water bill. I took the average cost of what the water bill is. I'm a single person and my average water bill is $22 every two months. That's $11 a month. If you calculate that per day, it's only about 35 cents per water. I don't know why people are screaming about $100 water bills. Do they have 5, 6, 8 people living in there? I suggest you look at your water meter and make sure you're not using water you're paying for. If you've got something leaking in your house, it's costing you.

Future not bright

This is for Mayor Frank Loffredo. The future is bright for Lake Villa? We beg to differ.

Developing people on 1/3 acre lots does not make for a bright future. Especially when we don't have the infrastructure in place to support it. It was humorous that you fought the widening of Grand Ave. when after all, the need for it was necessitated by your catering to the big-time developers. Us who are on the bigger tax brackets paying $5-$6,000 a year do not appreciate being loaded up with more taxes due to the need to expand our services for the people you're bringing into the community. Sure, our taxes multiplier went down 2/10ths of a percent this year, but our overall tax bill still went up. We're looking for a better way of life in the country here. Turning this into another suburban blight is not the answer. We're out of here this spring.

Let's be proactive

I'm in agreement with the caller who stated we should be informed of the sex offenders in our area. This is much more important than being notified of who was arrested for speeding. Be proactive. Let's help and share the safety of the residents in our community.

Give us C-SPAN

I agree that US Cable of Lake County needs competition. Not only is their service bad, but they apparently think the only people smart and educated enough to benefit from and enjoy C-SPAN 2 live in Lake Forest. If they can provide C-SPAN 1 and 2 for the richies in Lake Forest, they can do the same for all of us "dummies" in the rest of Lake County. We're also citizens of the United States and need to know what's going on in the Senate and House of Representatives.

Let it go

I'd like to make a comment on the Whitewater investigation in Arkansas. I think it's unfair that they're picking on the Clintons when way back when, Sen. John McCain (R-Ariz.) was involved in a nasty savings and loan scandal in the 1980s and he got off scot-free. Also, Neal Bush, son of President Bush was involved in another scandal involving the Colorado Savings & Loan. He, too, got off scot-free. I think they should just drop it. People are sick of it. I'm going to vote for Clinton no matter what.

Look once more

This is to the person who's complaining about no permit for a restaurant on Route 12. Maybe you're looking on the wrong side of the building. I drive past it every day and see the permit smiling at me every morning.

Griefnotes

How can I prevent difficulties from grief?

Many who confront grief for the first time are surprised at the intensity of their feelings. Grief is most often associated with the death of a loved one but it can also result from divorce, loss of bodily function, moving or from child growing up and leaving home. Because grief is poorly understood, those who have not experienced it personally can be poor helpers. By learning about grief ahead of time we can more capably assist friends in their time of need and can more readily understand the intensity of feelings when death affects our families. Take time to read and inquire about grief and learn ways to assist those in need of support.

How To Survive The Job Search
By Nancy Sakol

Q: My husband and I have been living and working in the city of Chicago, and have always relied on public transportation to get to and from work. I have given notice to my employer of 8 years as we are about to move to the suburbs due to my husband's transfer. While his company has given him an automobile as part of his new perks, it is apparent that I will have to further rely on public transportation to get to and from wherever I am able to find new employment. I have been told that it would be better for me to find something very close to home until the time that I can afford to purchase a car. It has also been said to me that employers sometimes will ask on their applications what the year and make of your vehicle is, and frown down upon use of public transportation by their employees. Is this true? G.S.—Chicago

A: Thousands of people every day rely on the use of public transportation and manage very well. Besides, with the high cost of operating motor vehicles coupled with the costs of parking in the city, and heavy rush hour traffic, I can see why so many do depend on public transportation. In answer to your question regarding asking for year and make of vehicle, many corporations look upon this question for use before and after the fact. For instance, information may be needed for vehicles parked within a parking lot which is secured. Also, if the position is calling for an outside sales position with their own automobile, for instance whereby the potential employee will need to be hauling around samples, it would be safe to assume someone without a car would not operate effectively as someone with a car. Do employers frown down upon the use of public transportation out in the suburbs, not likely! However, if public transportation becomes a reason for tardiness and such...yes! The idea, as I am sure you are more than experienced with, is to leave yourself enough time for the possibility of incident in that area. Be up front in an interview regarding this if it is brought up to you. Tell them that you have relied on this for 8 years and it has never been a problem. Also follow up with the fact that the situation is temporary and that your intentions are to be purchasing an automobile shortly. Make sure they understand that the reasons for not having one were due to the city living and city employment. Offer them to speak with your former employer who should be able to verify your ability to report for work daily in a timely manner. Good luck on your move!

PET OF THE WEEK*"FUDGE"

"FUDGE IS A SWEET TREAT"
"FUDGE" is a female labrador mix. Mostly black with brown highlights, Fudge has a silky, shiny short hair coat, a pretty face and excellent disposition. Just four years old, Fudge is a smaller medium size dog. Fudge has a typical lab's personality. She is active and playful and adores human company and interaction. Alert and smart, Fudge is eager to please and will train quickly. In the prime of life, Fudge is past the puppy behavior problems associated with younger dogs, and she is in good health. Fudge is a beautiful lab mix and she has been waiting for a home since May of 1995. If you love lab-type dogs, please come and see Fudge in Cage 48.

All dogs benefits from basic housebreaking and obedience training which helps bond dog to owner. Crating is recommended when the owner is away for the first year if needed.

Cash $55 donation includes free spay/neuter, collar tag, leash, first shots, follow up care and much more.

Orphans of the Storm is located at 2200 Riverwoods Rd., Deerfield. Hours are 11 am - 5pm, seven days a week. Call (847) 945-0235 for further information.

NATURE'S BOUNTY

Safety First On Halloween

1. Instead of trick-or-treating, ask your parents to plan a Halloween party for neighborhood children and friends.

2. If you do go trick-or-treating, go only to houses of people you or your parents know.

3. Don't eat any treats until you return home and have them carefully inspected.

4. Young children should always be accompanied by a parent or older sibling.

5. Observe all traffic rules. Only cross streets at intersections, and remember to look both ways before stepping off the curb.

6. Make sure drivers can see you by wearing a light-colored costume or by putting reflective tape or stickers on darker colors.

7. Don't limit your vision with a mask. Face paint is better, or a close fitting half-mask with large eye openings.

8. Try on your costume in advance to make sure you can move comfortably. Check to see if any part could drag on the ground.

9. There is no such thing as a harmless prank. Even though you may say "trick-or-treat," never play Halloween tricks.

10. Never trick-or-treat alone. There is safety in numbers, so take along several friends or family members.

11. Never ride your bike when you trick-or-treat. You may easily lose your balance or strike an object in the dark.
